January 6, 1763. WILLIAMSBURGH, Dec. 3. NUMB. 1776.

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

The following Piece wrote abroad, about three Years ſince, by the ingenious Author of the Court of Fancy, we have lately received a Copy of by One of his Friends. As we think it a maſterly Panegyric, and is wrote by a Native of our City, we preſume it will be an acceptable Preſent to our Readers.

VICTORY. A POEM.

By Mr. GODFREY.

I.

ON a ſoft Bank, wrapt in the gloomy Groves,
(Thro' where Ohio's ever rolling Lave,
Unaw'd by Moons, meandring wildly roves,
And ſweetly murm'ring, ſeems to mourn [the Brave.)

II.

BRITANNIA ſad reclin'd, and o'er their Grave
Surcharg'd with Grief her azure Eyes did move,
Her Plaint was aided by the mournful Wave,
And Zephyr to return her Sigh ſtill ſtrove.

III.

Her Spear and Laurel Wreath aſide were thrown,
The big round pearly Drops each other trace
From her bright Eyes in guſhing Torrents down,
And waſh'd the Roſes from her beauteous Face.

IV.

"Ah! why," (then cry'd the bright angelic Maid)
"Why is my Breaſt a Prey to foul Deſpair?
"It is but Folly thus to mourn the Dead,
"No longer then I'll idly loiter here.

V.

"I'll ſeek where VICTORY her Seat doth rear,
"And all around her pow'rful Influence ſpread,
"She yet perhaps may liſten to my Pray'r,
"And grant Revenge for ev'ry gallant Shade."

VI.

Then ſpread her ſnowy Wings, and ſought the Skies,
A lucent Path proclaim'd the Goddeſs' Flight;
So thro' the Air the ſtreaming Lightning flies,
And leaves behind a dreadful Blaze of Light.

VII.

Above where Morning decks the lovely Eaſt
With the deep Beauties of the Virgin's Glow,
On her bright Way BRITANNIA ſwiftly preſt,

VIII.

And ſoon ſhe gain'd the vaſt amazing Height,
And ſoon the ſhining Palace ſhe eſpies,
The maſſy Gates wide op'ning gave the bright
Celeſtial Beauty to her wond'ring Eyes.

IX.

Rude was the Structure's Front, and round was heard
The Groans of Anguiſh, echoing thro' the Gloom,
Within bright Majeſty and Grace appear'd,
And Sounds of Triumph ſhook the ſpacious Dome.

X.

Horror was Porter; with a ghaſtly Stare
His Eye-brows rais'd, his Mouth was open'd wide,
A hideous Concave! but no Tongue was there,
For Speech to him the angry Pow'rs deny'd.

XI.

The next grim Death was plac'd, and by his Side
Pale ſhiv'ring Fear, and ever writhing Pain,
His ſiſter that, and this his gloomy Bride,
Hung on his Hand a dreadful helliſh Train.

XII.

Clad in deep ſables Sorrow did appear,
All wan and ghaſtly with dejected Eye,
Eager ſhe treaſur'd ev'ry Widow's Tear,
And number'd ev'ry helpleſs Orphan's Sigh.

XIII.

High on her ſhining Seat was VICTORY plac'd,
Sweet were her Smiles, but dreadful was her Frown,
Her Left-hand with the ſpreading Palm was grac'd,
And in her Right ſhe held the Victor's Crown.

XIV.

One perfect Ruby was her ſhining Throne,
Gold were the aſcending Steps, but ſmear'd with Blood;
Cloſe by her Side bright laurel'd Glory ſhone,
And Fame with her loud ſounding Trumpet ſtood.

XV.

Slav'ry, faſt bound to her triumphant Carr,
In Anguiſh gnaſh'd her Teeth, and ſhook her Chain,
While Liberty aloft, poiz'd in the Air,
With pitying Eye beheld the Miſcreant's Pain.

XVI.

Behind briſk Jollity, in frolick Mood, [ſhown,
With the full Bowl, and crown'd with Grapes, was
The Muſe, e'er grateful to the Brave and Good,
Struck the ſoft Lyre with Sweetneſs all her own.

XVII.

And now, the laſt of all this varied Throng,
Sweet Peace was by her branching Olive known,
Smiling, with eaſy Steps ſhe ſwept along,
Nor e'er deform'd her Beauties with a Frown.

XVIII.

Around the Wall, in curious Niches plac'd,
The imag'd Heroes ſternly frown'd in Gold,
Each warlike Arm a poliſh'd Falchion grac'd,
Their Brows were honour'd with the Laurel's Fold.

XIX.

For thoſe who grac'd the happier Days of old,
Who to the Heav'ns their envy'd Names had rais'd,
Or thoſe whom later Ages had enroll'd,
On the bright Liſt, in ſhining Armour blaz'd.

XX.

PRUSSIA, great Monarch! whom no Fate can move,
Superior 'bove the glorious Train appear'd,
In all the Terrors of another Jove,
While the dread Bolt his ſable Eagle rear'd.

XXI.

Next FERDINAND, who calm the War ſurveys,
Serenity e'er gilds his princely Breaſt,
So Neptune ſkims along the troubl'd Waves,
And ſmiling, bids old Ocean be at Reſt.

XXII.

O'er the bright Pavement now, with eager Haſte,
To where great VICTORY triumphant ſhone,
Rais'd on her glitt'ring Seat, BRITANNIA preſt,
And humbly bow'd before her awful Throne.

XXIII.

Then thus ſhe ſpoke (but e'er ſhe Speech could gain,
She dropt freſh Tears, and heav'd ſome poignant Sighs)
"Oh! brighteſt thou of the celeſtial Train,
"Ador'd by Man, and Favourite of the Skies!

XXIV.

"Once was I bleſt, when o'er my Infant Days
"Well pleas'd you ſmil'd, and rear'd me up to Fame,
"Then did I wanton in thy glorious Blaze,
"And diſtant Nations trembl'd at my Name!

XXV.

"Then to my Sway was Gallia forc'd to yield,
"In vain ſhe call'd her num'rous Armies forth!
"Creſſy and Poitiers, and the glorious Field
"Of Agincourt proclaim'd my Britons Worth!

XXVI.

"But now in vain, forſook by Heav'n and Thee,
"In vain they ſtrive, their Courage all in vain!
"Tho' the dear Prize is Fame and Liberty,
"They ſee triumphant Slaves, and dread the Chain!

XXVII.

"For Pity (thou who, with a Mother's Care,
"Hung o'er my Youth) propitious lend thy Aid!
"Their baleful Heads, ſee the pale Lillies rear,
"While my lov'd Roſes mourning droop and fade!"

XXVIII.

She ceas'd, nor could ſhe more, diſtreſſing Woe
Her Utterance ſtopt, and cut the moving Tale,
Down her pale Cheeks the briny Torrents flow,
Nor Hope could o'er her ſtrength'ning Fears prevail.

XXIX.

Then VICTORY thus, "Oh! thou, my Joy and Pride!
"Near to my Heart, and Favourite of my Train,
"Thou wouldſt not thus have mourn'd, had Heav'n com-
"Nor had thy gallant Britons toil'd in vain. [ply'd,

XXX.

"But now new Laurels wait to grace thy Brow,
"And Heav'n appeas'd, a chearing Ray ſhall give,
"Thy Glory then another Dawn ſhall know,
"Thy Pow'r again, and all thy Joys revive.

XXXI.

"Thy Fleets, the lordly Sovereigns of the Sea,
"Shall bear from thee the Terrors of the War,
"While Gallia pale, and trembling with Diſmay,
"Shall ſhrink to view thy Navy from afar.

XXXII.

"Soon Canada ſhall own thy pow'rful Sway,
"Yet bleeding Conqueſt here will aſk the Tear,
"Like noble Decius, thy brave Chief muſt pay
"His Life a Victim for his Country here."

XXXIII.

She ſaid, and while BRITANNIA humbly bow'd,
Bid willing Fame her Silver Trumpet ſound,
BRITANNIA's Name rung thro' the Vaults aloud,
And Echo gave it to the Heavens around!

Mr. HALL,

WHEN I publiſhed my Depoſition, and thoſe of my firſt Lieutenant and Maſter, in your Paper, No. 1774, I did not imagine I ſhould have been obliged to have given you, or the Public, any further Trouble in that Affair; and had nothing inconſiſtent with Truth appeared in Oppoſition to it, I ſhould not have been under the Neceſſity of making the following Reply. Little did I imagine Mr. Relfe would have been weak enough to have publiſhed thoſe falſe Affidavits which appeared in the ſame Paper, and which, when all Circumſtances are known, muſt reflect Diſhonour on himſelf, rather than on me.----I ſay falſe, becauſe I can prove them ſo. They might as well ſwear that I had taken from them one of the Cheſts of Money lately found at the Havannah, as that I took a Sum of Money from Duprat's Carpenter; which I doubt not they would have ſworn, had they imagined there was a Poſſibility of its gaining Credit.

In the Preamble to Duprat's Affidavit, is inſerted, "Before the Hon. Edward Shippen, jun. Eſq; Judge of the Vice Admiralty Court of Pennſylvania, came Capt. Louis Duprat, late Maſter of the Sloop called the Harlem, and on his corporal Oath declared," &c. From whence it would appear that this Affidavit was taken in the Preſence of the Judge. It is true they did apply to the Judge to take the ſaid Depoſition, which he abſolutely refuſed, as appears from my Depoſition; therefore, as Duprat's Depoſition was not taken before the Judge, it ſeems to have been patched up in private, and the ſaid Preamble muſt appear of a Piece with the reſt, an artful Falſhood. How ſuch Conduct is to be vindicated, is beyond my Conception.

Then Mr. Relfe goes on, and aſſerts, that "The two preceding Affidavits were peruſed by Meſſieurs Alexander Lunan, John Malcolm, and Charles Pettit, Owners of the Brittannia Privateer, and why they did not communicate the ſame to Capt. M'Pherſon, is beſt known to themſelves." Here I muſt beg Leave to remark, that Mr. Relfe's Memory fail'd him. I believe it is very true that theſe Gentlemen did peruſe them, as they told me they had done ſo, and they communicated the Contents of them to me (as far as they could recollect them.) And it is as true that Mr. Relfe knew, from their own Mouths, that they had done ſo before he wrote this notable Aſſertion, and before he endeavoured to perſuade me not to publiſh my Depoſition, aſſuring me that Duprat's and De la Tore's Depoſitions could do no Injury to my Character, as they had never been ſhewn to any Perſon whatever. And, if his Memory is not too ſhort, he may recollect that I anſwered him, I KNEW it was not ſo. He further adds, "But it is very certain they (the two Affidavits) muſt operate in Favour of the Dutch Captains, as appears by the Act of GEORGE the Second, 1758, viz. 'If any Perſon or Perſons ſhall purloin or embezzle any Goods, Merchandize, Furniture or Apparel, before 'Condemnation thereof, every ſuch Perſon ſhall be ſubject to 'ſuch Pains and Forfeitures as are inflicted by Law upon Perſons 'purloining or embezzling Goods out of any captur'd Ship.'

How he makes out that Duprat is a Dutch Captain, I am at a Loſs to know, he being a natural born Subject of His Majeſty's declar'd Enemy, and has, the greateſt Part of the preſent War, been in the Service of the French as Commander of a Privateer, in which he has made Prizes of a Number of Engliſh Veſſels; and when taken by me was Commander of a Veſſel compleatly fitted for War, with ten Carriage Guns, and about fifty Men (not one of whom was Dutch) and owned entirely by the natural born Subjects of France.

I ſuppoſe, by quoting the above recited Clauſe of an Act of Parliament, Mr. Relfe would have it inferred, that I have been guilty of an Infringement of it: But I defy Mr. Relfe, and all Mankind, to prove any Act of mine contrary to the Laws, or to the Diſhonour of my Country: And I have too much Reaſon to believe, that if he thought it in his Power, he would gladly embrace the Opportunity; having already experienced the Violence of his Inclination to injure me, when he laboured ſo aſſiduouſly in procuring the Seizure of five Prizes, which I brought into this Port the laſt Year, after a legal Condemnation.

The Particulars of his Conduct in that Affair is not my preſent Intention to publiſh, unleſs I ſhall be obliged to do it by further Provocation. JOHN M'PHERSON.

Mr. HALL, Front-Street, Jan. 1, 1763.

I HAVE ſeen what Captain M'Pherſon deſires to have inſerted in your next Paper, which is not worthy of an Anſwer; therefore you will be kind enough to renew the two Dutch Affidavits, that the Public may determine what Injuſtice has been done to his Reputation.

Yours, &c. JOHN RELFE.

N. B. It is poſſible that Captain Duprat may be a Native of France; but I am perſwaded he will prove himſelf a Burgo-Maſter of St. Euſtatia, and that his Owners are Subjects of the States of Holland.

LONDON, SEPTEMBER 30.

THERE was, during the late War between the Queen of Hungary and the King of Pruſſia, an Officer of conſiderable Rank in the Service of the latter, whom his Majeſty detected in a Correſpondence with one of the Auſtrian Generals: His Majeſty made no Noiſe about the Affair, or the leaſt Alteration in his Conduct towards the Officer, with whom, upon certain Occaſions, he converſed very familiarly. When his Majeſty had got two or three of his Letters into his Poſſeſſion, he called him one Day into his Cloſet, and charged him with his Offence, laying, at the ſame Time, the intercepted Letters before him. The Delinquent trembled, fell upon his Knees, and begged his Majeſty to ſpare his Life. The King commanded him to riſe, and aſſured him he would not put him to Death, or even to Diſgrace. "I believe, ſaid the King, I can tell what inſtigated you to this criminal Action. At ſuch a Time I put ſuch an Officer over your Head; was not that the Reaſon?" The Officer owned it was. "At that Time continued the King, I could not inform you of the Reaſon; at preſent I can, and will." The Officer, when he had heard him, acknowledged the King was in the Right, and that, all Circumſtances conſidered, he could not act otherwiſe than he did." Then, ſaid the King, we are even: You could not have a greater Pleaſure in gratifying your Reſentment than I have in forgiving you. Say nothing of what has paſſed; but beware of doing any Thing of the like Kind again."

Some ſmall Time after, the King included this Officer in a Promotion, and thereby reſtored him to his Rank, for which he went to return him Thanks, and vowed eternal Fidelity. His Majeſty received him very graciouſly, told him, he knew he was a good Engineer, and that he would confide to his fortifying a Poſt of great Importance. The Officer undertook the Charge, and he executed it entirely to the King's Satisfaction, who expreſſed it in the moſt obliging Manner, and promiſed that he would very ſoon take an Opportunity to reward him.

In the Beginning of the next Campaign, this Officer dining at the Table of Marſhal  obſerved that his Excellency after Dinner, was making up a Packet, which was to be ſent to Berlin by his running Footman. The Officer laid hold of this Opportunity to intreat the Marſhal to put a Letter in his Packet, which he pulled out of his Pocket ready ſealed, and the Marſhal made not the leaſt Difficulty of incloſing it with his own, and then delivered the Packet to his Servant. This Man proceeded with the utmoſt Expedition on his Journey; but before he got half Way to Berlin, he was ſtopped by an Officer of the King's Guards, who demanded his Packet, broke it open, and took out the Officer's Letter; and then ordered the Man to go on with the other Letters. As he went from the Marſhal's Tent, the Officer was arreſted, and brought the next Day to the King, who ſhewed him his own Letter, in which was a Plan of the Fortification, with Inſtructions how it might be attacked and taken in a very ſhort Space. He ſtood ſome Time ſtupid and ſilent; at laſt burſt into Tears, and again begged his Life. "Your Life, ſaid the King, is ſafe, and I might, perhaps, have pardoned this Treaſon too, but your Treachery to your Friend, and making him unwittingly a Partner in your Crime, I cannot forgive.---You muſt paſs the Remainder of your Days at Spandau, whither he was conducted ſoon after, and ſet to work at the Tail of a Wheelbarrow upon the Fortifications.

In a private Letter from Paris, dated September 20, is the following Paſſage: "The Duke of Bedford, who was received here with all the Marks of Diſtinction due to his Rank, and all the Zeal that the Deſign of his Miſſion ſhould naturally inſpire, has been viſited by the principal Nobility and Gentry. The Conferences were to have commenced Yeſterday, but have been retarded by a Diſpute which has ariſen between the French Miniſters concerning the reſpective Parts they are to act in this Negociation. The Count de Ch-----l, as Miniſter in the Department of foreign Affairs, pretends that it belongs to him to confer with the Engliſh Ambaſſador, while the Duke, his Brother, claims the Privilege of directing the Negociations. Thus public Buſineſs is retarded, and precious Time loſt. The Hopes of Peace do not ſeem to riſe among us in any Proportion to the pompous Preparations that are making to bring it about. The Impoſſibility of making Propoſals that will be, at the ſame Time, acceptable to us, and pleaſing to England; the Danger of propoſing an equitable Treaty to Armies flushed with Conqueſt, to Fleets enriched with Spoil, and to Merchants, who form new Projects of Commerce upon the Ruin of our Trade in all Parts of the World; and the Pretenſions of Spain, whom the ſmalleſt Succeſs renders arrogant; all theſe Circumſtances perſuade us, that Peace is not ſo near at Hand as many fondly imagine. The Marquis of Grimaldi, who procured us the Alliance of Spain, pretends a Right to be preſent at all the Conferences carried on between the Duke of Bedford and our Miniſtry; and if this Pretenſion is allowed, it will be naturally productive of Miſunderſtanding and Confuſion."

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, Sept. 24.

"We learn, with ſome Uneaſineſs here, that ſeveral Shoals of Jeſuits, driven out of France by the righteous Severity of the late Edicts againſt that pernicious Order, have been encouraged by the Empreſs Queen, and Prince Charles of Lorrain, to ſettle in Bruges, Ghent, and ſome other Towns in the Low Countries. The States of the United Provinces will, no doubt, exert themſelves in a particular Manner to prevent the Entrance of ſuch peſtilential Members of Society into this Country, which of all other Proteſtant States, may be the moſt deeply injured by their pernicious Intrigues. This Precaution will be the more neceſſary, that under the Cover of a certain Toleration, or rather a Connivance granted to a limited Number of Janſeniſt Churches, a great Number of Jeſuits have already crept into this Republick, where they have Chapels erected, and Congregations much more numerous than thoſe of the Janſeniſts. If a Popiſh Kingdom has driven from its Boſom theſe perfidious Emiſſaries of Rome, who undermine the Authority of Sovereigns, and trample upon all Laws, Civil and Sacred, to accompliſh their ambitious Views, ſhall any Proteſtant State foſter them in its Territories, and behold with Indifference their Numbers increaſing."

Oct. 5. Staniſlaus Count Poniatowſky, the Companion in Arms, and the Friend of Charles XII. of Sweden, and Caſtellan of Cracow, died lately in Poland, aged 85, leaving a numerous Iſſue, poſſeſſed of the firſt Dignities of that Kingdom.

Oct. 9. Letters from Paris of the 16th Inſtant mention, that there is an Account from the Levant, that the Plague made a terrible Havock and Devaſtation in Romania, Aſia Minor, Smyrna, Aleppo, and other Places of the Ottoman Empire.

We are aſſured that Admiral Pocock has declared he will give a 16th Part of the Prize Money coming to him from the Conqueſt of the Havannah, to the Widows and Orphans of the Seamen killed there. "An Act of Generoſity worthy the Conqueror of the Havannah, and deſerving to be imitated by all other Victors, who generally acquire both their Laurels and Riches at the Expence of theſe poor Fellows and their Families."

Extract from the Proceedings of the ASSEMBLY.

Sabbati, 2 Die Octobris, 1762.

Mr. SPEAKER,

I AM commanded by his Excellency to lay before the Houſe, His Majeſty's Order in Council of the 15th of February laſt, declaring His Majeſty's Royal Diſallowance of four Acts paſſed by the Governor, Council and Aſſembly of this Iſland, the Titles whereof appear in the ſaid Order; and alſo, the Report of the Lords Commiſſioners for Trade and Plantations to the King, bearing Date the 27th Day of January laſt, whereon His Majeſty's ſaid Order is grounded; and the King having been graciouſly pleaſed to ſignify His Permiſſion and Allowance, for the immediate re-enacting the Proviſions contained in one of the Acts compriſed therein, intituled, "An Act for the giving Licence to the Captors, other Proprietors, and Purchaſers of Prize-Goods, brought into, and condemned as ſuch, in this Iſland, to export the ſame under certain Regulations, free from any Duties impoſed by the Laws of this Iſland; and for laying a Duty on certain Wines that may be brought in and condemned as Prize, and ſold in this Iſland, and not already liable to any Duty or Impoſt, paſſed in the Year 1761." His Excellency recommends to the Houſe to prepare a Bill for that Purpoſe; and alſo refers it to the Conſideration of the Houſe, that it appears requiſite, that an Act, paſſed here on the 18th Day of April laſt, intituled, "An Act to explain and amend two ſeveral Acts of this Iſland; one intituled, "An Act for giving Licence to the Captors, other Proprietors, and Purchaſers of Prize-Goods, brought into, and condemned as ſuch in this Iſland, to export the ſame under certain Regulations, free from any Duties impoſed by the Laws of this Iſland, and for laying a Duty on certain Wines that may be brought in and condemned as Prize, and ſold in this Iſland, and not already liable to any Duty or Impoſt." And the other, an Act, intituled, "An Act to prohibit the Importation of Sugars, Rum and Melaſſes, of the Growth of the French, Spaniſh, Dutch, and Daniſh Colonies in America into this Iſland; and for preventing ſeveral Frauds committed by Perſons trading to and from the Northern Colonies," ſhould be repealed at the ſame Time that the above-mentioned Act, paſſed in the Year 1756, is re-enacted, for as much as ſundry of the Objections ſtated in the Report of the Lords Commiſſioners for Trade and Plantations, may be ſaid to affect the Act of the 18th of April laſt, equally with thoſe Laws that were under the Contemplation of their Lordſhips, at the Time when they made their ſaid Report to the King, and humbly propoſed to His Majeſty to diſallow thereof; but in order that the illicit and clandeſtine Importation of the Produce of Foreign Colonies into this Iſland may be prevented, his Excellency further recommends to the Houſe, to conſider of ſome Regulations which ſhall operate as a Remedy to that Evil, without contradicting the Laws of the Mother-Country, and his Excellency will readily concur with the Houſe, in paſſing a diſtinct and particular Act for that Purpoſe.

Jovis, 7 Die Octobris, 1762.

May it pleaſe your EXCELLENCY,

IN Conſequence of your Excellency's Meſſage, accompanied with a Report from the Lords Commiſſioners of Trade and Plantations to His Majeſty, and an Order of His Majeſty in Council thereupon, we are ordered by the Houſe to acquaint your Excellency, that they have maturely weighed the Purport of the Propoſition, permitting them to re-enact the Proviſions of the Act paſſed in the Year 1756, for the Regulation of Prizes; and as the Houſe do not incline to accept the Propoſition, nor can admit the Objection of the Lords Commiſſioners for Trade and Plantations to that Act, to carry any Weight, ſo they are by no means diſpoſed to ſubmit their Sentiments to the Determination of their Lordſhips, nor ever will at any Time ſuffer them, in any Reſpect, to direct or influence their Proceedings by any Propoſition or Deciſion whatever.

Veneris, 8 Die Octobris, 1762.

Mr. SPEAKER,

I AM commanded by his Excellency to acquaint the Houſe, that he has received their Anſwer to his Meſſage of the 2d Inſtant, with the greateſt Surprize.

His Excellency ſees, with Concern, that the Houſe has declined preparing a Bill to re-enact the Law paſſed in the Year 1756, for the Regulation of Prizes, which His Majeſty, by His Order in Council, now before the Houſe, has declared to be a Law, tending to encourage the Annoyance of the Enemy, and a vigorous Proſecution of the War, and has therefore, out of His Princely Regard for the Welfare of his People, been graciouſly pleaſed to permit the immediate re-enacting of; but his Excellency cannot ſufficiently expreſs his Amazement, that the Houſe ſhould take upon itſelf to judge the Objection to that Act, as ſtated by the Lords Commiſſioners for Trade and Plantations in their Report to the King, to be of no Weight, even after His Majeſty and His Privy-Council have adopted that Objection, as the Ground whereon the King has been pleaſed to make known his Diſallowance and Repeal of the ſaid Act.

And his Excellency is at a Loſs to conceive, what can have induced the Houſe to break forth into ſuch Expreſſions, of the Diſregard they are determined to ſhew to the Sentiments of the Lords Commiſſioners for Trade and Plantations, more eſpecially, as the Sentiments of their Lordſhips have in the Inſtance of the Laws lately repealed, been approved of by His Majeſty and his Privy-Council, and tranſmitted hither with a benevolent Purpoſe to the good People of this Country, that the Legiſlature of it being apprized of every Objection that has occured to thoſe Laws, may know how to avoid the ſame Errors in the paſſing of any future Laws.

But his Excellency is willing to hope, that the Houſe will, upon a Review of its Proceedings in this Buſineſs, explain the extraordinary and unprecedented Declarations it has made, and expreſs its Reſpect for His Majeſty's Councils of State (one whereof are the King's Commiſſioners for Trade and Plantations) in ſuch Terms as are due to the Place thoſe Councils hold in His Majeſty's Adminiſtration, and may vindicate the Houſe from any Intention of treating them in a contemptuous Manner, and thereby affronting His Majeſty's mild and gracious Government.

Sabbati, 9 Die Octobris, 1762.

May it pleaſe your EXCELLENCY,

WE are commanded by the Houſe to aſſure your Excellency, in Anſwer to your Meſſage of Yeſterday, that their Intentions never were, by their Meſſage of the 7th Inſtant, to ſhew the leaſt Diſreſpect to His Majeſty, or His Moſt Honourable Privy-Council, and they embrace this Opportunity, which your Excellency hath given them, to declare, that they will always preſerve an inviolable Attachment to His Royal Perſon, and Submiſſion to His Government, and that they think themſelves bound in every Inſtance to approve themſelves the moſt dutiful loyal Subjects to a Prince, who has always ſhewn himſelf a Father to His People.

With Hearts filled with ſuch Sentiments, the Houſe think themſelves ill treated by the Lords Commiſſioners for Trade and Plantations, who, in their Report on the ſeveral Laws mentioned in your Excellency's Meſſage of the 2d Inſtant, have endeavoured to repreſent the Legiſlature of this Iſland in a very diſadvantageous Light to His Majeſty, and mentioned them as Objects of His ſevereſt Cenſure; and that, in Language not uſed by that Board, in Regard to Acts of the Legiſlature of this Iſland, whilſt the Right Honourable the Earl of Halifax preſided there.

The greater the Zeal of the Houſe is to acquire and preſerve His Majeſty's Love and good Opinion, the greater muſt their Reſentment be againſt any whoſe Actions have the leaſt Tendency to leſſen them, and the Houſe might at this Time have been under the greateſt of Misfortunes (his Majeſty's Diſpleaſure) had not His uſual Benignity interpoſed, the Influence of which hath always been felt by His moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects here, tho' unhappily placed at ſo great a Diſtance from His Royal Preſence.

Martis, 12 Die Octobris, 1762.

GENTLEMEN of the COUNCIL,

I Return you Thanks for the Part you have taken towards expediting the publick Buſineſs that has come before you.

Mr. SPEAKER, and GENTLEMEN of the ASSEMBLY,

When I called you together, I hoped that a calm and temperate Spirit would have ruled in your Deliberations, and directed them to a proſperous Iſſue for the Good of His Majeſty's Service, and the Welfare of the People you repreſent; and it is with much real Concern I have now required your Attendance here, that I may expreſs to you how great my Diſappointment has been. The publick Manner in which you have arraigned the Conduct of the King's Commiſſioners for Trade and Plantations, whoſe Repreſentations, in Relation to you, have been ſolemnly approved by His Majeſty and His Privy-Council, and your other Declarations concerning their Lordſhips, which you have not even apologized for, altho' I put it in your Power to do it, render it neceſſary for me, as His Majeſty's Governor, to give a ſignal Proof of the Senſe I have of your great Miſconduct, by bringing your preſent Proceedings to a ſpeedy Concluſion; and I heartily wiſh, that at your next Meeting, a juſt Regard for the Peace of this Country (which no Man has it more at Heart to preſerve than I have) and a due Reſpect for His Majeſty, and all thoſe who are in Authority under him, may induce you to lay aſide all Conſiderations that are not compatible therewith, and apply yourſelves to render a future Seſſion as happy in its Fruits as this Meeting has proved unfortunate. I do prorogue this General Aſſembly unto Tueſday, the 19th Day of this Month of October, and it is prorogued accordingly.

BOSTON, Dec. 20.

Meſſieurs EDES and GILL, Salem, Dec. 15, 1762.

"Departed this Life on the 9th Inſtant, and laſt Evening was interred here, the Remains of the Hon. ICHABOD PLAISTED, Eſq; The Town being ſenſible of his great Merit, ordered their Train of Artillery to be diſcharged, during the Funeral Proceſſion. A Company of young Gentlemen, under the Command of Capt. John Nutting, preceded the Corps, in military Order; at the Interment of the Corps, they made a triple Diſcharge of their Arms, which did them Honour. His Funeral was attended by a vaſt Concourſe of People.

"This Gentleman was happy in maintaining an amiable Character; of a chearful, tranquil Diſpoſition. As he had retired from Buſineſs for ſome Time, his chief Study was Beneficence and Friendſhip.-----The Poor he always had with him.----- It was his daily Delight, as an Overſeer, to enquire after their Welfare.----No Man was more beloved or lamented by them. Whenever Diſcord happened between any of his Friends, he was uneaſy till they were united. He was humble even to a Fault. He hated Adulation; and would always eſteem his good Deeds as ineffectual and fruitleſs; and was never more mortified, than when ſpoken to his Praiſe.

"Nor did he ſhine leſs in Military than Civil Life; large Draughts being made from his Regiment, in this County, he thought it his Duty to go with them, being appointed Chief in 1755, and 1756.---His Conduct towards his Officers and Soldiers, rendered him their Delight: He ſpurned at Vice in either; and diſtinguiſhed the Virtuous from the Vicious.---In the Offices he ſuſtained, whether Civil or Military, he was beloved by all who knew him; as being generous and charitable to thoſe whoſe Profeſſion of Religion differed from his.---Sincere in his Friendſhip; exemplary in his Piety; a Huſband to the Widow; a Father to the Fatherleſs, and a Friend to the Poor."

We hear from Salem that a few Days ago the Warehouſe of Capt. Maſon of that Town, fell into the Dock, in which was 60 Barrels of Flour, 200 Hogſheads of Salt, and ſome Proviſions.--- It is remarkable that no Lives were loſt, Capt. Maſon and his Son had not been out of the Warehouſe above a Minute before it fell over into the Dock.

We hear the Sickneſs which has proved ſo Mortal among our Troops at the Havannah, is much abated.

By a Gentleman from Portſmouth in Piſcataqua, we are informed, that though ſeveral Veſſels, had ſailed from thence on foreign Voyages laſt Week, yet there ſtill remained in that Harbour, 20 Ships, 2 Snows, 24 Brigs, 10 Schooners, and 10 Sloops.

NEW-YORK, December 27.

We hear that the Captains Sinnot and Wright, both in Privateers of this Port, fell in with, off Cape-Francois, 6 or 7 large Ships from Bourdeaux, which they were obliged to leave after exchanging ſeveral Broadſides with them.

We have Letters in Town from Liſbon, as late as the 29th of October, by which we learn the Portugueſe expected to be able to ſtop the Progreſs of the Spaniards in a ſhort Time, and prevent their attacking any more of their Towns for the Campaign.

Dec. 30. The Intrepid Man of War, Capt. Hale, in coming up from Sandy Hook, ran a-ground upon the Eaſt Bank, but got off again on Tueſday; we don't hear of her receiving any Damage.

ARRIVALS at the Havannah.

PHILADELPHIA, January 6.

On Monday next the GENERAL ASSEMBLY of this Province meets here.

Arrived at Jamaica, from this Port, the Captains Story, Faulkner, Warner and Horton---Alſo Captain Wilſon, from Maryland.

The Fanny, Captain Hymer, taken on his Paſſage from this Port to Barbados, is retaken, and carried to Jamaica.

In a Letter from Virginia by laſt Poſt, it is ſaid, That a Veſſel was arrived there from Glaſgow, which ſailed about the Twentieth of October, and brought Advice, that the Accounts when ſhe ſailed, did not indicate a Peace to be ſo near as it ſeemed to be the Beginning of that Month.

WILLIAMSBURGH, Dec. 3.

Capt. Dibdin, of the Eagle Privateer of London, last from the West-Indies, put into Norfolk, informs that a good many Vessels have lately been taken by French and Spanish Privateers, and carried into Porto-Rico. He also says that the Levant Frigate, Capt. Laforey, about 9 Weeks ago, was boarded by two Spanish Privateer Sloops, of 12 Guns each, in the Night; but as Capt. Laforey saw them before dark, and suspected their Intention, he was ready for them; the Men, in jumping on board him, were almost all received on the Man of War's boarding Pikes, and both surrendered in less than 20 Minutes. Capt. Dibdin carried into Tortola the Prince of Asturias Privateer, of 4 Carriage Guns, 10 Swivels, and 38 Men; from whence he sailed the 19th of October, and after a very disagreeable Passage arrived in Hampton Road the 24th of November. He parted with the Peggy Sloop, Warrington, bound to Virginia, off Cape-Fear, all well; but had the Misfortune to lose his Tender, the Sloop Young Eagle, of 6 Carriage and 10 Swivel Guns, on the Fryingpan, the People saved by his Boat.

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 23.

Last Week arrived at Oxford the Schooner Peggy, Capt. William Grymes: This is the same Vessel which was taken in Chesapeak-Bay by Don Pedro in July last, loaded with Bale Goods, as formerly mentioned. After Don Pedro had sent Mr. John Glassell, and others who were taken in her, ashore near our Capes, he put Capt. Grymes on board the Prize Schooner, to navigate her; but soon after they left the Capes they parted Company, and Capt. Grymes being the only Navigator on board, instead of carrying her to Augustine, steered her into Savannah, in Georgia, from whence she is now just arrived.

¶ THOMAS WETHERILL, JOHN WOOLMAN, Executors.

EIGHTY DOLLARS Reward.

Eſſex County, New-Jerſey, ſs. TWO Priſoners eſcaped from Jonathan Hampton, High Sheriff of ſaid Eſſex County, as they were going to Baſkin-Ridge, where they lived, to get Bail for the Actions they were then taken upon, not known to the Sheriff to be for Felony and Forgery, as they ſince appear to be, which the Priſoners then knew, viz. WILLIAM HAMILTON, for Sheep-ſtealing, at the Camp on Staten-Iſland, born in Ireland, about 50 Years old, a luſty, dirty ſlouching Butcher, much Sun-burnt, wears a cut Wig, ſeldom combed; has an impudent Boy his Son, about 14 Years old, with him; he had ſeveral other Actions againſt him, for which Sylveſter Cole became ſpecial Bail, and unleſs he is ſoon taken, muſt pay the Debts and Coſts. His Wife and Children are ſince gone to him.

JOHN BARCLAY, for Forgery, born in Ireland, about 50 Years of Age, a ſhort chunkey Fellow, of ſandy Complexion, full of Palaver when drunk (which is as often as he can) talks thick and quick, is a Clothier by Trade. They both went to the Southward laſt Spring, were at Pequea laſt July, and would have been taken there if one Andrew M'Gown had not helped them to eſcape, and ſecreted them, well knowing they had left me, as above; M'Gown lately went from Baſkin-Ridge alſo.

Barclay's Wife, and ſome of her Children went in the Stage to Philadelphia and Lancaſter about two Months ago; ſhe is exceeding much Pock-marked, very brown, named Catherine, about 40 Years of Age, but looks much older, a very neat little Woman. It is thought they are ſomewhere between Pequea and Wills's Creek; but moſt likely about Saſquehannah; but if they are further Southward, even to Carolina, it is hoped they will be apprehended, as ſuch Villains ought not to be countenanced. Whoever apprehends and ſecures them, ſo that I may have them again, or brings them to me, or my Goal keeper, ſhall have for Hamilton Fifty Dollars, and for Barclay Thirty Dollars, and all reaſonable Charges, paid by

JONATHAN HAMPTON, Sheriff.

The following Extract from the ANNUAL REGISTER, for the Year 1761, being a Character of the Great Patriot PITT, may ſerve as a Supplement to his Speech, the Subſtance of which was publiſhed in our Paper of the 30th ult.

The AUTHOR, after mentioning the Controverſy relating to Mr. PITT's Reſignation, ſays,

WE may affirm, with Truth and Impartiality, that no Man was ever better fitted than Mr. PITT to be the Miniſter in a great and powerful Nation, or better qualified to carry that Power and Greatneſs to their utmoſt Limits. There was in all his Deſigns a Magnitude, and even a Vaſtneſs, which was not eaſily comprehended by every Mind, and which nothing but Succeſs could have made to appear reaſonable: If he was ſometimes incorrect, he was never vulgar.

"His Power, as it was not acquired, ſo neither was it exerciſed in an ordinary Manner. With very little parliamentary, and with leſs Court Influence, he ſwayed both at Court and in Parliament, with an Authority unknown before to the beſt ſupported Miniſters. He was called to the Miniſtry by the Voice of the People; and what is more rare, he held it with their Approbation; and under him, for the firſt Time, Adminiſtration and Popularity were ſeen united. Under him Great-Britain carried on the moſt important War in which ſhe ever was engaged, alone and unaſſiſted, with greater Splendor, and with more Succeſs, than ſhe had ever enjoyed at the Head of the moſt powerful Alliances. Alone this Iſland ſeemed to ballance the reſt of Europe.

"In the Conduct of the War he never ſuffered the Enemy to breathe, but overwhelmed them with reiterated Blows, and kept up the Alarm in every Quarter. If one of his Expeditions was not ſo well calculated, or ſo ſucceſsfully executed, Amends were made by another, and by a third. The Spirit of the Nation once rouzed, was not ſuffered for a Moment to ſubſide; and the French, dazzled, as it were, by the Multitude and Celerity of his Enterprizes, ſeemed to have loſt all Power of Reſiſtance. In ſhort, he revived the military Genius of our People; he ſupported our Allies; he extended our Trade; he raiſed our Reputation; he augmented our Dominions; and on his Departure from Adminiſtration, left the Nation in no other Danger than that which ever muſt attend exorbitant Power, and the Temptation which may be, to the invidious Exertion of it. Happy it had been for him, for his Sovereign, and his Country, if a Temper leſs auſtere, and a Diſpoſition more tractable, more compliant, and conciliating, had been joined to his other great Virtues. The Want of theſe Qualities diſabled him from acting any otherwiſe than alone: It prevented our enjoying the joint Fruit of the Wiſdom of many able Men, who might mutually have tempered, and mutually forwarded each other; and finally, which was not the meaneſt Loſs, it deprived us of his own immediate Services.

"Thoſe who cenſured his political Conduct the moſt ſeverely, could raiſe but few Exceptions to it; none of them ſingly, and perhaps, the Whole united, of no great Weight againſt a Perſon long engaged in ſo great a Scene of Action.

"Whether the Part, which under his Adminiſtration we rather continued to act than newly took, with Regard to the Affairs of Germany, be for the real Intereſt of Great-Britain, is a Queſtion of the utmoſt Difficulty, and which perhaps will never admit a ſatisfactory Solution. To condemn him on this Head we muſt be ſure of this Solution. It has been obſerved, in Favour of that conteſted Meaſure, that France demonſtrated, through the whole Progreſs of the late Treaty, the moſt earneſt Deſire that we ſhould abandon that German Connection; no trifling Argument, that our Enemy did not look upon it to be extreamly prejudicial to our Intereſts. If he has carried on that War at a vaſt Expence, a prodigious Stand has been made againſt the entire Power of France; had leſs been expended, the whole Expence might have been loſt. How far this Part of his Conduct was agreeable to his former Declarations, is a Diſcuſſion which can avail but little. He found the Nation engaged in theſe Affairs; it was more eaſy to puſh them forward, than to extricate himſelf from them; as he proceeded, he diſcovered, by Experience, the Advantages of that Plan of Action, and his Opinion was changed.

But even admitting, that, to attain the Ends of Oppoſition, he had once fallen upon popular Topics, which even then he knew were not tenable, it can form but a very ſmall Blemiſh in a public Character, however wrong it may be by Application to the ſtrict Rules of Morality. Ill would it fare with Stateſmen, if this Sort of Conſiſtency were to be expected from the moſt conſiſtent of them.

"With regard to the Penſion and the Title, it is a Shame that any Defence ſhould be neceſſary. What Eye can diſtinguiſh, at the firſt Glance, the Difference between this and the exceptionable Caſe of Titles and Penſions? What Briton, with the ſmalleſt Senſe of Honour and Gratitude, but muſt bluſh for his Country, if ſuch a Man retired unrewarded from the public Service, let the Motives to that Retirement be what they would? It was not poſſible that his Sovereign could let his eminent Services paſs unrequited! the Sum that was given was undoubtedly inadequate to his Merits; and the Quantum was rather regulated by the Moderation of the great Mind that received it, than by the Liberality of that which beſtowed it.

"The Conduct of Mr. PITT, when the Parliament met, in which he made his own Juſtification, without impeaching the Conduct of any of his Collegues, or taking one Meaſure that might ſeem to ariſe from Diſguſt or Oppoſition, has ſet a Seal upon his Character."

From the GENTLEMAN'S MAGAZINE, for September, 1762.

The TRINOBANTIAN. Numb. 2.

My worthy Friends and Countrymen,

THE laſt Time I addreſſed you, I recommended it to you to think for yourſelves, and to ſuſpend your Judgments till you had ſome Facts before you, from whence you might frame an Opinion of the preſent Miniſtry; and I have ſince remained a ſilent, but not unconcerned Spectator of publick Tranſactions.

It was never my Intention to mingle with the Herd of Hebdomadal Libellers, who, without Shame or Remorſe, violate the Laws of their Country, and infringe the Rules of Decency. I cannot prevail on myſelf to calumniate Mr. PITT, to whoſe Activity and Abilities, in the Conduct of the War, this Kingdom has high Obligation: And when the Advocates of Lord B---decry Mr. PITT's Adminiſtration, they offer no ſlight Indignity to their Sovereign, who thought proper to reward that Miniſter's paſt Services by ſuch diſtinguiſhed Marks of His Royal Favour and Bounty.

On the other Hand, as I am not convinced that this Nation affords but one Man fit to be admitted to His Majeſty's Councils, I therefore cannot be perſuaded to revile Lord B---, nor to ſuppoſe that his Lordſhip's being honoured with the Favour of his Royal Maſter, is any Reaſon why he ſhould be excluded from publick Confidence.

One of the principal and moſt early Objections againſt his Miniſterial Conduct, is, his having abandoned Mr. PITT's Syſtem with Reſpect to our magnanimous Ally the King of PRUSSIA. But it ſhould be conſidered how greatly Circumſtances are altered ſince Mr. PITT, perhaps with too much Heat and Precipitation, thought proper to reſign his Office. We were not then engaged in a War with Spain, which muſt neceſſarily employ ſo great a Part of our Force by Sea and Land, and exhauſt ſo large a Portion of our Treaſure: Neither does His Majeſty of Pruſſia now ſtand in the ſame Need of our Aſſiſtance; having ſince then been happily delivered from the Enmity of Ruſſia and Sweden.

Let it be remembered that Mr. PITT himſelf, very prudently, changed his Meaſures with the Times. In the Beginning of the War he ſtrenuouſly oppoſed all Connections with Germany, but at length, this penetrating Miniſter judged it expedient to turn his Attention to the Continent, and to purſue Meaſures, till then unpopular, with a Zeal and Attachment beyond any of his Predeceſſors in the Adminiſtration.

The Faith of ſubſiſting Treaties ought undoubtedly to be held ſacred; but there can be no Obligation to renew Engagements, which, by an Alteration of Circumſtances, are become unneceſſary on one Hand, and dangerous on the other.

But the outrageous clamour which now prevails againſt his Lordſhip, is founded not upon Facts, but on the moſt baſe and ungenerous Surmiſes and Inſinuations. An Opinion has been induſtriouſly propagated by thoſe who find their Intereſt in exciting Diviſions, that his Lordſhip will conclude an injurious and diſhonourable Peace; and in order, at all Events, to make the projected Treaty appear in an odious Light, theſe Sowers of Diſſenſion endeavour to perſuade the Publick that no Terms can be ſafe and honourable but ſuch as, were it poſſible to obtain, it would be imprudent to require. 'Now is the Time, they exclaim, to ruin 'the French Navigation, and to cruſh our Rivals in Commerce. 'Now, ſay the Sons of Clamour, delenda eſt Carthago.'

Here, my Countrymen, a moderate and impartial Obſerver cannot but remark the Want of common Candour in the Publick, on recollecting the Difference of their Behaviour, when a Treaty of Peace was laſt under their Negociation. The Minds of the People were then pacifically diſpoſed; all then breathed the diſcreet Language of Moderation; no one then called aloud for the utter Demolition of our Rivals; no one, then, pretended to anticipate the Terms of the Treaty under Debate; no one, then, preſumed to ruſh into the Privy Council, and to proclaim the Reſolutions of that auguſt Board, which every Member is ſworn not to divulge; all, then, were patient and candid; becauſe they who diſſented from the Miniſter, did not put themſelves at the Head of thoſe who find their Intereſt in oppoſing Peace; nor attempt to embarraſs his Negociations by inſidious Rumours, and ſeditious Clamours.

But now, though the Miniſtry have ſhewn a Conſideration for the Publick, and particularly for that reſpectable Body the City of London, which was never paid to them by any prior Adminiſtration, yet this open and unexampled Procedure hath not been ſufficient to beſpeak Patience and Candour. Before the Miniſters on each Side were departed to negociate the Treaty, imaginary Preliminaries were indecently publiſhed, with every aggravating Comment which Malevolence could ſuggeſt, and every Artifice has been employed to practice on publick Credulity, and inflame Mens Paſſions, by endeavouring to prepoſſeſs them with a Notion, that nothing but the entire Ruin of our Enemies can compleat our Glory, and ſecure our Welfare.

I am perſuaded, that Moderation is not a Quality which will recommend a Writer, while the mad Tide of Party runs high; nevertheleſs, I do not ſcruple to declare, that though I would be one of the foremoſt to condemn Peace which ſhould not be really ſecure, honurable, and adequate to our Succeſſes; yet I am far from thinking, if we were able, it would be good Policy to reduce the French to the loweſt Ebb of Diſtreſs. For not to mention how lamentably we muſt exhauſt ourſelves to accompliſh this End, were it in our Power to effect it, we may venture to affirm, that the utter Ruin of the French Commerce would eventually turn to the Prejudice of our own.

It has been inſidiouſly pretended, however, that if we do not entirely deſtroy the Commerce of our Rival, ſhe will, in a few Years, recover her Strength, ſhe will again provoke us to War by Encroachments on our Colonies. But I am bold to anſwer, that ſuch an Event can never take Place, but in Conſequence of our moſt ſhameful Supineneſs and bad Government. Every Thing, indeed, may be dreaded, if, when a Peace is concluded, we relapſe into our former Habits of Diſſipation and Corruption: If, inſtead of attending to the Preſervation and Improvement of our Colonies, our Miniſtry ſhould Pocket Advices of early Incroachments, and poſtpone every national Conſideration to the mean Traffick of Borough Jobbing, and of extending an unconſtitutional Influence, to the Diſhonour of the Crown, and the Detriment of the Nation.

No valuable Poſſeſſion is to be preſerved without Care and Vigilance. To contend that there is no way of maintaining our own Intereſt, but by utterly deſtroying that of our Rivals, is to confeſs ourſelves weak and unſkilful Politicians. As well may Individuals, inſtead of cheriſhing a noble and uſeful Emulation, to equal and excel their Competitors, take the abſurd and inhuman Reſolution of ſacrificing every one whom they think likely to rival their Pretenſions.

We might triumph for a While in the Ruin of our Rivals, and in the Havock of the human Species, but our Conqueſts would prove Cadmean Victories; and were there no other Method of preſerving our Commerce but by deſtroying our Competitors, one would be inclined to adopt the principals of a Gentleman, very eminent in the literary World, though ſomewhat ſingular in his Politics, who is of Opinion, that the Nation would be happier without any Commerce whatever.

Believe me, my Countrymen, it is not the Increaſe of the French Power, but our own Relapſe into Vice and Venality, that we have moſt Reaſon to dread. But happily we have the ſtrongeſt Inducements to conclude that we ſhall not ſink again into our former State of Indolence and Profligacy. The Nation will be taught, from the example of their Prince, to prefer Induſtry and Temperance, to falſe Luxury and Diſſipation. Even during the Ravages of War, Arts and Sciences, which have long ſince languiſhed among us, have revived by the animating Influence of the Royal Patronage. Favours now are no longer beſtowed, ſolely with a View to promote parliamentary Intereſt, but neglected Merit is at length diſtinguiſhed, and honoured with Rewards unconditioned and unſollicited.---A Munificence doubly grateful; ſince he who undergoes the Drudgery of Sollicitation, dearly earns the Bounty he extorts.

When the Bleſſings of Peace therefore ſhall be reſtored, we may truſt that the Attention of Government will be employed in ſecuring and improving the national Glory and Proſperity; that as we have triumphed over our Rivals by our Arms, we may likewiſe excel them by our Induſtry and Ingenuity; and have Reaſon to ſay, with conſcious Pride,

In the mean Time, my Countrymen, do not ſuffer yourſelves to be inflamed by the dark and malignant Practices of the Intereſted or Ambitious. Remember that there are Men of flinty Souls, who are ready to ſacrifice every honeſt and benevolent Sentiment, to the Thirſt of Gain, or the luſt of Power; and who find their Account in the Diſtreſſes of their Country, and the Slaughter of their fellow Creatures. Leave them to the Remorſe, which, however late, will infallibly attend ſuch a Spirit of Rapacity and Inhumanity. Be you candid and diſcreet. Wait with Patience, till you are aſſured, from proper Authority, what are the real Terms of the Treaty under Negociation; and then have the Courage and Virtue to JUDGE FOR YOURSELVES.

Richmond, Sept. 14, 1762.

BRIDGE-TOWN, in Barbados, October 21.

Yeſterday arrived here the True Briton, Capt. Herbertſon, in 7 Weeks from Briſtol. In Lat. 39 ſhe fell in with a Spaniſh Privateer of ten Guns, with which ſhe had a ſmart Engagement. Capt. Herbertſon, we are informed, behaved extremely well; but he unhappily loſt one Man in the Engagement, and had ſeveral wounded, two of which are ſince dead. His Veſſel mounts ſix Carriage Guns, and was defended by only twenty Men.

NEW-LONDON, December 17.

About 700 Horſes have this Week been ſhipped at this Port for different Ports in the Weſt-Inddies.

We hear from Hebron, that of 18 Soldiers which went from that Town, in the Expedition to the Havannah, 15 are dead, 2 are ſick at New-York, and one is returned.

NEW-PORT (in Rhode-Iſland) December 27.

Laſt Wedneſday arrived here, in 68 Days from Cork, the Sloop Fair Lady, Oliver Champlin late Maſter, who died 13 Days after he came out.

NEW-YORK, January 3.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman at the Havannah, to another in this City, dated Nov. 27, 1762.

"By a Veſſel from Jamaica, we have Advice, that Commodore Keppel has taken off Cape Francois, 11 Sail of Ships from Bourdeaux, with 2000 Troops on board, under Convoy of a Frigate; and that he has alſo taken 9 Sail from the Cape for France, under Convoy of a Ship pierced for 60 Guns. The Veſſel that brought the above Account, ſpoke with one of the Prizes going to Jamaica. The General is impatient to have a Confirmation of this glorious News.

"Thurſday next is appointed to celebrate the Birth of the Prince of Wales, when there is to be a triple Diſcharge of all the Artillery in this Place, and the Evening is to be concluded with the Play of the Fair Penitent, by the Officers of the Army, in a Theatre built for that Purpoſe."

On the 22d of December, 1762, was killed by Thomas Everitt, a Cow, raiſed and fatted by Col. Benjamin Tredwell, of Great Neck, in the Townſhip of Hempſtead; the Weight of which was as follows, viz. the four Quarters weighing 676 lb. The Tallow, beſides Kidney, 144 lb. The Hide 63 lb. which in the Whole amounts to 883 lb. This perhaps excels any killed in this Province.

On Tueſday laſt was married Col. Read of the 42d, or Royal Highland Regiment, to Miſs Suſannah Alexander, Siſter to the Earl of Stirling, a young Lady of many Accompliſhments, and a large Fortune.

Saturday laſt 8 Sail of Tranſports left Sandy Hook for England, with a fair Wind.

There was not one Veſſel at the Hook Yeſterday Morning.

January 6. Yeſterday arrived here, from Philadelphia, Captain William Montgomery, late of the Schooner belonging to this Port, who ſailed from Spaniſh Town for this Place, on the 20th of October laſt, and on the 24th, in Lat. 20. 20. Long. 64. 20. after 30 Hours Chace, was taken by Captain Don Diego, in a Sloop of 10 Guns, belonging to Spaniſh St. Domingo. The People were ſtripped of every Thing, ſave Shirt and Trowſers, and the Schooner diſpatched for that Place. The People remained on board the Privateer 16 Days, when they fell in with a Sloop bound to Statia, on board which they were all put, and on the 14th of November they arrived at that Iſland. From thence they went to St. Chriſtopher's, and from thence ſailed the 2d December, and arrived the 29th at Philadelphia.---The Captain reports there are great Numbers of Spaniſh Privateers in the Weſt-Indies.

On Tueſday Evening arrived here the Ship Falls, Capt. Thomas Collins, in 52 Days, from Cadiz, which he left the 13th of November laſt, in Company with the Grace, Capt. Chambers, for this Port, and the Pennſylvania Packet, Capt. Gardiner, for Philadelphia, which he parted with in Lat. 39. Lon. 14. Six Days before he left Cadiz, they received Advice there, that a Battle had been fought in Portugal, between the Spaniards and the united Forces of the Portugueſe and Engliſh, in which the Spaniards had been defeated. The Accounts Capt. Collins received were very imperfect, as the Spaniards, who came on board, were very reſerved, and none of the Engliſh were ſuffered to go on ſhore; ſo that he could get no certain or particular Account of the Battle, or any Circumſtances attending it.---Some unconnected Expreſſions that dropped from the Spaniards who came on board was all the Account he could get, from which he underſtood the following Particulars,---That the Slaughter was conſiderable on both Sides, that the Spaniards had loſt 2000 or more, and were driven from the Field---and retiring,---not likely to ſucceed in their Deſigns upon Portugal.---Heard nothing of the Spaniards having taken Oporto, or any other Place in Portugal.---In Cadiz two 70 Gun Ships, and moſt of the other Spaniſh Veſſels were unrigged, and lying by the Walls.

On Friday laſt, a Son of Mr. Iſaac Martin, on Canon's Dock, about 5 Years old, fell from a Window of the ſecond Story, into the Stoop below, where Mr. Martin was ſitting. The Head of the Child firſt ſtriking the Floor, his Scull was fractured, and he remained ſome Time deprived of Senſe; but ſkilful Surgeons being immediately called in, he was trepanned, and properly dreſſed. He is now in a fair Way of Recovery, almoſt out of Danger.---This may be a Caution to others, not to truſt ſmall Children without ſome careful Attendant, in upper Rooms, where the Windows are not ſecured by Bars.

PHILADELPHIA, January 13.

On Monday laſt the GENERAL ASSEMBLY of this Province met here.

By Captain Adams from Barbados (but laſt from Virginia) we have Advice, that two Spaniſh Privateers have lately infeſted that Coaſt, and taken ſeveral Veſſels; but that Captain Lowe, in His Majeſty's hired Tender, the Providence, had gone out to cruize for them.

Captain Adams left Barbados in Company with Captain Hitch, in a Schooner for Maryland, and a Sloop for Norfolk, in Virginia. A few Days after he ſailed, he fell in with a Sloop, which, by her Behaviour, convinced him ſhe was a Privateer, tho' ſhe did not offer to attack him; and as he had before parted with the above mentioned Veſſels, and the Sloop was not arrived at Norfolk when he left it, it is to be feared they met with the Privateer.

Thurſday laſt, early in the Morning, a Fire broke out in a Pot-houſe in Cheſtnut-ſtreet, which entirely conſumed the ſame; but there happening to be no Wind, and the Inhabitants giving their immediate Aſſiſtance (as they always moſt readily do on ſuch unhappy Occaſions) the Flames were prevented from doing any further Damage.

Our Navigation is now, and has been, for ſome Days, ſtopt, by the River being full of Ice.

 Mr. DUNLAP's AUCTION of Books will open this Evening, and will continue every Evening (Saturdays excepted) till the whole Collection is ſold.

 The Managers of the Cheſter Church Lottery are under the Neceſſity once more to acquaint the Publick, the Drawing ſaid Lottery is poſtponed to Monday, the 24th Day of January inſt. owing to the Wheels for drawing being now engaged with the Skippack Lottery, and no Certainty of the Time when that Lottery will finiſh drawing, the Numbers of this being rolled up, and ready for the Wheels. Some few Tickets are ſtill on Hand, and may be had of the reſpective Managers, of David Hall, and at the London Coffee-Houſe.

Philadelphia, January 13, 1763.

WAS found, on the 16th of December laſt, about Eight o'Clock in the Morning, on Samuel Robins's Wharff, a little above Arch-ſtreet, A large Silver Watch. The Owner proving his Property, and paying Charges, may have it again, by applying to Samuel Robins, Boat-builder, in Water-ſtreet. 1

A LARGE Assortment of Drugs and Medicines, Chemical and Galenical, just imported from London, and to be sold in large or small Quantities, at the lowest Prices, by JOHN SHIPPEN, DRUGGIST, at the House and Shop lately kept by Dr. William Chancellor, in Market-street, over against the Presbyterian Meeting-house, Philadelphia.

N. B. As I have bought the Shop Furniture, and a valuable Parcel of Drugs and Medicines, which the Doctor brought with him from London; any of his Customers, who will favour me with their Orders, may depend upon being served with genuine Medicines as punctually as heretofore. ¶

TEN POUNDS Reward.

RUN away on the 14th of December last, a Servant Man, named Emanuel Lightin, about 19 or 20 Years of Age, 5 Feet 7 or 8 Inches high, fair Complexion, smooth Face, long Visage, and has long light brown Hair, plaited and tied up: Had on a blue Camblet Coat, a white double breasted Flannel Jacket, with red Spots and Buttons, good Leather Breeches, Yarn Stockings, strong Shoes, a half worn Fur Hat, &c. He has stolen a middle sized brown, or rather Mouse-coloured Horse, about 12 Years old, in good Order, shod before, trimmed under the Bridle, a small Star and Snip, has a Lump on the off Side of his Belly, near the Flank, paces and trotts, and had on an old Hunting Saddle, with Leather Housings, and a Snaffle Bridle. Said Servant likewise stole a good light-coloured Great-Coat, a Snuff-coloured Broadcloth close-bodied Coat, two or three fine Shirts, a half-worn Fur Hat, a large Pair of Silver Buckles, with some other Things. He has since changed his Name and Cloaths, counterfeited a Pass, and parted with the Horse, and was seen in Company with a Man supposed to be a Servant of James Hunter's, of Philadelphia, advertised in this Gazette, with a Reward of 40s. &c. for taking him: But the said Hunter hereby offers a Reward of Three Pounds, and reasonable Charges, for his Servant Man, to any Person who will commit him to any Goal, so that his Master may have him again. And the above Reward of Ten Pounds for Emanuel Lightin, to be paid to any Person who will deliver him to Philadelphia Goal; or Twenty Dollars Reward if delivered into any other Goal, so as his Master may have him again, paid by JOHN ROBERTS, Miller, near Philadelphia.

N. B. If said Lightin should be taken up, and brought to Philadelphia Goal, apply to James Stephens, Biscuit-Baker, in Chestnut-street. A Reward of Forty Shillings will be given to any Person who will bring the above described Horse to John Roberts, or give Intelligence, so that he may be had again. The said Lightin has lately been seen in Lancaster County. ‡

STrayed or stolen from the Plantation of Christian Eby, in Warwick Township, Lancaster County, A likely dapple grey Mare, about 8 Years old, branded on the near Buttock G E, paces and trots very well, about 14 Hands high, with a long Tail. Whoever takes up said Mare, and gives Notice to John Douglass, or said Eby, both of said County, shall have Twenty Shillings Reward, and reasonable Charges, paid by CHRISTIAN EBY. △

Philadelphia, January 13, 1763.

THE Time of Credit given by the Subscribers to the Purchasers of Goods and Effects sold at Vendue, late belonging to Joseph Wright, of Julias-Town, being expired, all Persons who have not paid for the same, are desired to do it immediately: And such as are indebted to said Joseph Wright, are again desired to discharge their respective Ballances. Attendance will be given at the House of Reuben Eldridge, in Julias-Town, the 24th and 25th Instant, and such Persons as do not pay at or before that Time, may expect to be proceeded against as the Law directs. The Creditors of Joseph Wright are requested to send their Accounts to the Subscribers, that they may proceed to make a Dividend.

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

By Captain OLIVER, arrived at Marblehead from LISBON, which he left the Fifteenth of November, we have the following Advices, viz.

BERLIN, October 12.

A FIELD-Courier, preceded by ſeveral Poſtillions, blowing their Horns, arrived here Yeſterday with the agreeable News that the City of Schweidnitz ſurrendered on the Ninth Inſtant, and that the Garriſon are made Priſoners of War. The other Articles are not yet known, but will ſpeedily be publiſhed.

The Advices received from Saxony for ſome Days paſt are very unfavourable. Our Troops there being greatly inferior to the Number of the Enemy, have been obliged to abandon three Poſts, but nevertheleſs continued to maintain themſelves at Freyberg.

Halle, Oct. 9. We have received certain Advice, that the Auſtrian Troops, and thoſe of the Empire, loſt a great Number of Men in the eight different Attacks which they made, the 27th, 28th, and 29th of September, againſt the advanced Poſts of the Army of Prince Henry of Pruſſia. Among others it is aſſured, that of the two Regiments of Cuiraſſiers, there remain but 300 Men, all the reſt having been either killed or wounded. Thierheim and Old Wolfenbuttle's Regiments of Foot are almoſt deſtroyed. It it reported likewiſe that Major-General Baron de Butler, and the Count de Serbelloni, were killed there.

We muſt however acknowledge that out Troops retreated, and loſt ſome Poſts; but what is moſt aſtoniſhing is, that they paſſed the Mulda in the Face of the Enemy without being in the leaſt moleſted by them; which is a certain Proof that we could not have ſuffered ſo much as the Auſtrians would make the World believe. Gen. Haddick had formed a Plan to drive the Pruſſians out of all Saxony, and made himſelf ſure of Succeſs, on account of his Superiority.

Satisdorff, Oct. 1. On the 29th ult. the Baron de Haddick attacked the Sieur de Hulſen, forced two Abbaties, [Defenſes made of felled Trees] carried three Redoubts, took 4 Pieces of Cannon, and made near 400 Priſoners. All this was done with the Loſs of about 500 Men; and the Enemy's Loſs is ſtill more conſiderable. Two falſe Attacks were made at the ſame Time, by Way of Diverſion to the firſt. Since this Affair General Hulſen has abandoned Wilſdruff in the Night, and retired beyond the Ravin of Muſſen; and Prince Henry has been obliged to quit his advantageous Poſition behind the Weiſſeritz.

Egra, Oct. 2. The 27th of laſt Month the Prince of Lichtenſtein having attacked the Pruſſians poſted at Seida, drove them from their Poſt, and took two Pieces of Cannon, and near 400 Priſoners.

Nordheim, Oct. 14. The Allied Troops began to cannonade Caſſel the 10th Inſt. and the ſame Day a Train of heavy Artillery ſet out from Munden for the ſame Purpoſe.

Franckfort, Oct. 12. We have nothing to write about the two Armies in Heſſe: The Prince of Conde only waits for the proclaiming an Armiſtice, in order to march to the Lower Rhine with 20,000 Men, where they may be better ſubſiſted.

Liſbon, Sept. 19. The Spaniſh Army is at Caſtel-Blanco, but 8 Leagues from the Camp of Abrantes, the only Barrier remaining between the Enemy and this Capital.

From Prince Henry's Camp at Freyberg, Oct. 6. All the Enemy's Projects have been rendered ineffectual. Our whole Army has paſſed the Mulda in four Columns, without the leaſt Loſs. That of the Enemies, in the different Attacks, according to the Report of Deſerters, amounts to above 2000 Men in killed and wounded, and we have made at leaſt 300 Priſoners.

Our Generals Kleiſt and Belling have diſlodged the Corps of General Kleefeld from Nauſdorf, and General Belling has taken Poſt at Gros-Hartmanſdorf.

Marche of Brandenbourg, Oct. 12. The Army commanded by Prince Henry is ſtill encamped near Freyberg in Saxony, where the Enemy have not yet thought proper to attack him. It is aſſured that the King had promiſed that Prince, that as ſoon as Schweidnitz was taken, his Majeſty would ſend 5 or 6000 Men to his Aſſiſtance, to enable him to retake the Poſts of Wilſdruf, Pretſchendorff, and Frauenſtein. Perhaps General de Haddick, in order to render that Succour of no Uſe, may determine to come to a Battle.

Paris, Oct. 15. The Duke of Bedford is expected here from Fontainbleau. His Grace, we are told, being aſſured of the King of Spain's Conſent to the Peace, was juſt going to ſign the Preliminaries, when News came of the Surrender of the Havannah. The Negociation hath ſince taken another Turn, and the Public do not know the State of it at preſent.

Oct. 16. There is great Probability that the Negociations carrying on with England will terminate in a Peace. It is pretended, that the Marquis de Grimaldi has received Orders to ſubſcribe to it. Some People imagine, that the Conqueſt of the Havannah may heighten the Pretenſions of England; but as that Event was foreſeen, and as we have ſince had Accounts of the good Diſpoſition of the Courts of Great-Biitain and Spain towards each other, it ought to make no Alteration.

Letters from Spain adviſe, that the Count d'Aranda, in the Account he hath ſent to the King of the Operations ſince he hath been at the Head of the Army, promiſes before two Months are at an End, to make a Conqueſt of the greateſt Part of Portugal; and that he hopes to hear Maſs at Liſbon on Chriſtmas Day.

Hague, Oct. 19. According to the laſt Letters from the Army, Prince Ferdinand's Head Quarters were ſtill at Kirchayn the 14th Inſt. and nothing material had happened. The French Houſhold Troops were on their March Home, and the Prince of Conde was going to Duſſeldorff, where he was to have his Head-Quarters.

Brunſwick, Oct. 25. M. Dieſbach, the French Commandant at Caſſel, having rejected all the Terms offered him, and perſiſted in holding the Place, though the only Subſiſtence left for the Garriſon was made of Oats, and no great Quantity of that Grain neither remained, the heavy Battering Cannon is again returning before that Town, and the Trenches were intended to be opened before it, as we hear, on the 16th Inſtant.

At the Court at St. James's, October 14, 1762, Preſent,

The KING's moſt Excellent MAJESTY in Council.

HIS Majeſty having been pleaſed to appoint the Right Hon. George Dunk, Earl of Halifax, to be one of His Principal Secretaries of State, his Lordſhip was this Day, by His Majeſty's Command, ſworn one of His Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State accordingly.

Whitehall, Oct. 16. The King has been pleaſed to conſtitute and appoint the Right Hon. George Grenville, George Hay, Doctor of Laws, Thomas Orby Hunter, Eſq; the Hon. John Forbes, Hans Stanley, Eſq; the Right Hon. George Buſſy Villiers, commonly called Lord Viſcount Villiers, and Thomas Pelham, Eſq; to be His Majeſty's Commiſſioners for executing the Office of Lord High Admiral of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the Dominions, Iſlands, and Territories thereunto reſpectively belonging.

LONDON.

Oct. 16. Yeſterday the Earl of Halifax kiſſed His Majeſty's Hand on being appointed Secretary of State in the room of the Hon. Mr. Grenville, who is appointed Firſt Lord of the Admiralty.

The Hon. and Rev'd Dr. Keppel, Brother to Earl of Albemarle, has kiſſed the King's Hand on his being appointed Biſhop of Exeter.

On Tueſday the Cambridge and Penzance Men of War arrived at Plymouth with the Jamaica Fleet under Convoy.

Great Diligence is uſed in equipping the Fleet deſigned to cover our Deſcents on the Coaſt of Spain, and it is ſaid Admiral Hawke will have the Command.

We hear that the 8000 additional Troops, requeſted by his Portugueſe Majeſty, are to be embarked on board 16 Tranſports as ſoon as poſſible, and to ſail under Convoy of four Men of War and two Frigates.

Oct. 19. Monſieur Ternay, late naval Commander at Newfoundland, is returned to Breſt with his Squadron. He was met with in the Channel by the Union Man of War, and narrowly eſcaped being ſeen by the Fleet under the Command of Sir Charles Hardy.

On the 4th Inſtant the Prince of Conde and the Marquis of Granby had a long Interview on the Banks of the Ohme.

There are no leſs than 32 Men of War now building in the different Dock-yards in the Kingdom.

On Tueſday Night there was a very hot Preſs in the River for Seamen, when a great Number were picked up, and put on board the Tender lying off the Tower.

We hear that Orders have been ſent to Admiral Corniſh, in the Eaſt-Indies, with his Squadron to invade the Manillas.

Streatham Houſe in Surry, one of the Duke of Bedford's Seats, is fitting up with all Expedition, for the Reception of the Duke de Nivernois, where he purpoſes to reſide ſometimes.

It is ſaid the Marquis Grimaldi, the Spaniſh Miniſter at the Court of France, is coming here from Paris, to aſſiſt the Duke de Nivernois in his Negociation at this Court.

Letters from Liſbon, by way of Holland, of the 11th ult. adviſe, that 15000 Engliſh and Portugueſe Troops were entrenched about eight Miles from Abrantes, the Paſs for Liſbon; which would ſtop the Progreſs of the Spaniards, and cover that Metropolis; but that the Provinces of Tralos Montes, Minho and Beira, were expoſed to the Enemy.

They write from Munden of the 14th Inſtant, that Dr. Werlhoff was arrived there from Hanover to attend the Hereditary Prince of Brunſwick, who was very much indiſpoſed.

Very ſtrong Reports ſtill prevail that a late Miniſter will ſpeedily be reinſtated in his former high Employments.

On Thurſday laſt, an Expreſs was diſpatched from the Admiralty to Commodore Moore in the Downs, as was alſo another at the ſame Time for Portſmouth.

Extract of a Letter from Cadiz, dated November 30.

"By a Daniſh Ship arrived here from the Cape, we have the diſagreeable News of the Reduction of the Havannah, with the Loſs likewiſe of a great Number of Men, which has cauſed no ſmall Murmuring here, as almoſt every Houſe in this City is concerned more or leſs in the Trade to that Iſland, and Places connected with it, which it is feared will make it be attended with bad Conſequences, more particularly as our Trade is entirely ſtopt thereby; but we truſt to Providence for his Aſſiſtance in this our very calamitous Situation, and are in great Hopes either ſhortly to hear of an Accommodation between the two contending Powers, or elſe that this Loſs will be made up to us by the total Reduction of all Portugal."

By Letters from Leghorn we learn, that the Gibraltar Frigate, of 20 Guns, and 104 Men, has taken a French Frigate of 36 Guns, and 390 Men, and carried her into Cyprus.

We hear that great Quantities of Cloths, ſuch as Long Ells, &c. have within this little While been bought up, to the Amount of 100,000l. in order to be ſent to th Havannah.

The laſt Letters from Cadiz bring Advice, that Admiral Saunders has been ſeveral Times ſeen cruizing off that Port with the greateſt Part of his Squadron, inſomuch that nothing can paſs in or out there without his Knowledge.

Oct. 21. About Four o' Clock, on Wedneſday Afternoon, an Expreſs arrived at St. James's from the King of Pruſſia, with the agreeable News of the Surrender of Schweidnitz.

The Siege had been proſecuted with ſuch Vigour that, on the Ninth Inſtant, there were two Breaches made, one of them wide enough for ſix Men a-breaſt to enter, and the other for four; upon which the King made Preparations to attack the Place by Storm; when a Chance Shot from the Beſiegers blew up one of the Powder Magazines in the Town, which threw the Inhabitants and Garriſon into ſuch Conſternation and Terror, as well as ſo greatly damaged the Town and Fortifications, that the Governor came directly to a Reſolution of ſurrendering the Town to the King of Pruſſia on his own Terms.

The Garriſon amounted to 8000 Men, who ſurrendered at Diſcretion Priſoners of War. In the Town were likewiſe found about 3000 Pruſſians, Priſoners and Deſerters; alſo the famous Baron de Warkotſh, and the Prieſt, who laſt Year formed the Deſign of giving up the King of Pruſſia, dead or alive, to the Auſtrians; with many others, who had from time to time given Intelligence to his Enemies; and all thoſe who were acceſſary to betraying the Town laſt Year. It is no Wonder, therefore, as this Place was the Refuge of ſo many Villains, that it ſhould hold out to the laſt Moment.

The Agents of the Hermione Prize will make a Dividend on Monday next, on board the Active Man of War, of the Treaſure found on board, to the Amount of 500,000l. at which Time, it is ſaid, Sir Piercy Brett and Admiral Saunders will be paid their Shares.

On Friday and Saturday laſt Lord Mark Kerr's Regiment of Dragoons marched through Stratford, for Colcheſter, in their Way to Harwich, where, it is ſaid, they are to embark for Germany, ſhould the War continue.

For ſome Days paſt ſeveral Corps of Troops have been filing off towards Portſmouth, in order to embark there for Portugal, whither alſo a Number of Tranſports, to be convoyed by Ships of the Line, are going with Stores and Ammunition of all Kinds.

Two large Men of War are, by the Commiſſioners of the Navy, ordered to be built at the King's Yard at Plymouth.

Letters from Cleves, of the 11th Inſt. adviſe, that Orders were arrived there from the Court of France, to provide Winter Quarters in that County, and that of Marck, for 24,000 Men; by which it was thought that Peace between England and France was not at a great Diſtance; and that theſe Troops are to be Auxiliaries to the Empreſs Queen, and to march to her Aſſiſtance when required, according to the Treaty ſubſiſting between the Courts of Verſailles and Vienna.

October 23. We hear the following Promotions are ready to take Place.

Sir William Burnaby, James Young, Sir Piercy Brett, John Moore, Richard Tyrrell, Lord Colvill, Sir James Douglaſs, William Gordon, Lord Edgecombe, Robert Swanton, Samuel Graves, Hon. Auguſtus Keppel, Rear Admirals.

Sir Thomas Stanhope, and Hon. Auguſtus Hervey, Colonels of Marines.

Letters from the Hague, dated the 17th, mention, that a great Miſunderſtanding had ariſen between the Prince de Conde and the Marſhals d'Etrees and Soubiſe, and that the ſaid Prince had retired to the Lower Rhine.

Tueſday the Britannia Man of War, a Firſt Rate, was launched at Portſmouth, amidſt a great Croud of ſplendid Spectators. At Night there was a grand Ball, &c. the whole was conducted with the greateſt Decorum.

Yeſterday the Subſcribers to the 9,600,000 l. made good the laſt Payment of Ten per Cent. on that Capital at the Bank.

We hear that an Order is ſent to all His Majeſty's Yards for the Artificers to work double Hours, with all poſſible Diligence.

It is now ſaid, that unleſs ſome ſpeedy Alterations happen in the Diſpoſition of the Court of Spain, with Regard to the Terms of Peace, the Duke of Bedford will ſhortly return to England.

October 26. They write from Vienna, of the 8th Inſt. that they had Advice from Tranſylvania, that 30,000 Turks, and 80,000 Tartars, were actually in Moldavia, having made ſome Pretenſions to ſome Parts of the Poliſh Dominions in Podolia.

It is ſaid that a Squadron of Britiſh Ships has, or will ſhortly make its Appearance off the Brazils, in order to ſecure that Part of his Portugueſe Majeſty's Dominions, and thereby defeat any Deſigns of the French and Spaniards againſt thoſe Settlements.

It is reported that freſh Inſtructions have been ſent to the Duke of Bedford.

Great Preparations are making at the Tower for ſome other Expedition againſt our Enemies.

Yeſterday and this Day it was currently reported that certain Advice is received here, That Col. Draper, with the Troops, &c. under his Command, has made great Progreſs in the Reduction of the Manillas, and that an Account of the taking that important Place is hourly expected.

M. de Ternay, arrived at Breſt from Newfoundland, is ſet out for Paris.

For ſeveral Days paſt great Quantities of Stores, Ammunition, &c. with ſeveral Pieces of Cannon, have been ſhipped off for Portugal, and great Quantities of various Kinds of Merchandize.

Portſmouth, Oct. 25. This Morning came up to Spithead the following Men of War, viz. Northumberland, Lord Colvill, Shrewſbury, Bedford, and Minerva, from Newfoundland.

BOSTON, January 3.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman at Liſbon, dated November 9, 1762.

"Our laſt Advices from England are to the 26th ult. from whence we infer, that nothing will be concluded before the Parliament meets, and it ſeems to be much doubted whether a Reconciliation between the contending Powers can be comprized this Seaſon; Spain they ſay is obſtinate in their Demands, and our preſent Situation does not intitle them to any great Indulgence, unleſs it be with a View to the Preſervation of this Country, where, thank God, we are eaſed of our Fears for the preſent, as the Rigour of the Winter Seaſon has compelled the Spaniards to retire, without effecting any Thing of much Conſequence; but if Peace is not concluded, they will of courſe renew their Efforts in the Spring, in which Caſe we hope for further Aſſiſtance from England, which, though they may ſave the Kingdom from Conqueſt, cannot prevent the Commerce from being reduced to the loweſt Ebb."

Extract of another Letter from Liſbon, of the ſame Date with the above.

"GOD be praiſed we are now relieved from all immediate Fears of the Enemy here: The Winter ſet in with great Vigour in a few Days after my laſt to you of the 11th of October, and in ſuch a Manner that the heavy Rains and violent Winds compelled the Spaniards to retreat, and we now underſtand that almoſt all their Army is cantoned in their own Territories, where it is preſumed they muſt take up their Winter Quarters, and we may hope that if Peace ſhould not take Place before they renew their Attacks in the Spring, ſome more Aſſiſtance will be furniſhed us from England; and that theſe People will, by Degrees, become more warlike, and be in a better Condition to ſtand on the Defenſive. We are happy in eſcaping as we have done; for, had the Enemy acted like Officers, and Men of Spirit, this Country might eaſily have been ſubdued in one Campaign. Thus, however, we have obtained a Reſpite from the worſt of Events, and may eſteem ourſelves happy in it. The Rains and Winds were conſtant and exceſſive ſevere for near three Weeks."

Capt. Oliver adds, that upon the Retreat of the Spaniards from Portugal, three of the beſt Regiments belonging to the Spaniſh Army deſerted, and came over to the Portugueſe, having got to Liſbon two or three Days before he ſailed; that they were immediately put under the Command of Engliſh Officers, and that he ſaw them exerciſe before the Palace in Liſbon, the King and Queen being preſent, and that they performed much to their Majeſties Satisfaction.---Many Swiſs Troops were in theſe three Regiments.

The Tom-Cod, -------, from Boſton, is arrived at Combe.

The Boſton-Packet, Kennedy, from this Place, is arrived at Briſtol.

The Charming Sally, Atwood, from New-York, is arrived at Hamburgh.

The Bell-Savage, Lewis. from New-York, bound to Briſtol, was taken the 3d of September, off Cape-Clear, by a Spaniſh Privateer of 8 Guns. The Captain is arrived at the Groyne.

A Veſſel was ſpoke with laſt Saturday from Liſbon, going into Cape-Ann; ſhe ſailed 3 or 4 Days after Capt. Oliver.

It is thought that Capt. Partridge, and the other Veſſels bound this Way, would ſail from Portſmouth about the 15th of November. A Convoy for the Weſt-Indies was to ſail at that Time.

Saturday laſt Capt. Potter, in a Brig, arrived here in 11 Weeks from Liverpool: They had bad Weather, and very hard Gales of Wind on the Paſſage.

We hear from Rutland Diſtrict, that on Monday Night, the 27th Inſtant, a Fire broke out in the Dwelling-houſe of John Caldwell, Eſq; of that Place; it is ſuppoſed to have begun in the Mantle-Tree of the Lower Room Chimney, in which there had been a great Fire the preceding Evening:---In about ten Minutes from the firſt Alarm the Houſe was all in a Flame, and the Family had but juſt Time to eſcape with their Lives, and very little of their Cloathing or Furniture ſaved. The loweſt Computation of the Loſs ſuſtained in the large Houſe, Shop Goods, Merchandize, Money, &c. is ſaid to be not leſs than One Thouſand Pounds Sterling.

We have Advice that Captain Pulling, in a Brig (late Captain Dommett's) was lately taken on his Paſſage from Guadaloupe for this Place, and carried into St. Martin's.

NEW-YORK, January 10.

On Thurſday laſt died the Honourable BENJAMIN PRATT, Eſq; Chief Juſtice of this Province, and one of His Majeſty's Council. He was the next Night decently interred in Trinity Church. In this Gentleman the Profeſſion have loſt a worthy Councellor; and the Public a valuable Friend.

The Body of the Negroe Wench, that was advertiſed in our laſt as being miſſing, has ſince been found between this City and Greenwich, ſhe having been murdered in a moſt barbarous Manner, by ſome Perſon or Perſons unknown.

Long-Iſland, Brookhaven South, Dec. 27, 1762.

Laſt Saturday Night, about Seven o'Clock, a Fire broke out in the Shop of Levy Michael, and intirely deſtroyed the ſame, with the whole Shop of Goods, amounting to the Sum of Fifteen or Sixteen Hundred Pounds, together with One Hundred and Eighty Pounds and upwards, in York Currency. The whole of his Loſs is uncertain, as ſome of the Goods were ſaved, but greatly damaged; ſo that he is reduced to the loweſt Circumſtances.

From a late LONDON CHRONICLE.

An ADDRESS to the People of ENGLAND.

Quis Furor, O Cives!

IN a crouded Theatre, if the Cry of Fire was to be maliciouſly ſpread, the Apprehenſion of an imaginary Danger, would inſtantly produce a real, and perhaps a fatal, Calamity.

In the ſame Manner, I am ſorry to ſay, that the popular Alarms given in ſo many printed Papers, by the dreadful Sounds of weak and ignorant Adminiſtration, foreign Favourite, ſecond Peace of Utrecht, &c. unleſs the Public are previouſly convinced that they never had leſs Reaſon, than at preſent, to give Way to ſuch Suggeſtions, are ſufficient to raiſe a political Panic in the Nation, with all its Train of Terrors and Confuſion. In the Courſe of a War, the Support of the People is neceſſary to the Crown; at the Eve of a Peace, their Confidence is equally eſſential; and he who, at this critical Juncture, to ſhew his Talents, to vent his Spleen, or to favour any ſelfiſh or intereſted View whatever, is capable of publiſhing Libels by which the Bands of Affection betwixt the Sovereign and his Subjects may be weakened, is an Enemy to his Country, of the moſt dangerous Sort.

-----Hunc, tu Romane, caveto.

The great Number, and unprovoked Virulency, of ſuch Performances of late, have extorted this ſhort Addreſs to the People of England, from a new Pen, not eaſily moved to trouble them, but who cannot ſee ſo many poiſoned Arrows ſhot Abroad, without offering ſomething by Way of Antidote to thoſe, amongſt whom they are calculated to fall.

The People of England, free, great, and truly fortunate, ſua ſi Bona norint, will give me Leave to repreſent to them, that they cannot arm themſelves ſo effectually againſt the Inſinuations of thoſe who endeavour to ſow Diſtruſt and Diſſenſion in the eaſy Minds of their Fellow Subjects, as by comparing the preſent with paſt Times.

From this Study, two uſeful and ſalutary Ends will be gained; they will perceive, that at no Period the Nation ever enjoyed the Advantages ſhe enjoys now; and that, from the Nature of Things, a Miniſter in theſe Days has leſs Temptation to quit the Path of his Duty to his Country, and leſs Hope of Protection, if he ſhould, than Miniſters in former Times have ever had. Theſe Propoſitions once eſtabliſhed, no unprejudiced Perſon can ſo far give up his Underſtanding as to believe upon anonymous, vague, and ſlanderous Suggeſtions, that a Period will be put to this War, one Moment ſooner than the Intereſt of the Nation requires, or upon Terms, leſs honourable and advantageous than our own Situation, and that of the Enemy, entitle us to expect.

Before the Conqueſt, what was this Kingdom but a Theatre of Invaſions abroad, and of domeſtic Wars?

From the Conqueſt to the Revolution, ſuch were the Troubles that aroſe from the diſputed Right to the Crown, from the Encroachments of Kings upon the Liberty of the Subject at one Time, from the Struggles of the People in Support of their juſt Rights at another; from the Anarchy that enſued, and from the Character and Conduct of the two firſt Princes after the Reſtoration, that a good Citizen, and a Lover of Liberty, will not find a Period in the whole Epocha when he would wiſh to have lived.

From the Revolution, that happy Æra of Britiſh Freedom, to the Cloſe of his late Majeſty's Reign, what Diſtractions have we not ſeen, under the fluctuating Government of Queen Anne, and under three great Kings, who, from the Diſadvantage of having been born and educated abroad, found themſelves obliged to give their Miniſters too abſolute a Diſpoſal of Affairs at home, and thereby frequently appeared rather as Heads of a Party, than Monarchs of their People.

The Efforts of the Jacobites in Favour of the Pretender, the irreconcilable Enmity of Whig and Tory, and the unhappy Differences ſometimes ſubſiſting betwixt Princes on the Throne, and Heirs apparent, and always induſtriouſly fomented by deſigning Perſons, were great Impediments during thoſe Reigns to that public Happineſs and Peace, to that national Strength and Vigour, which nothing but the moſt perfect Union can produce.

With happier Auſpices, and with a Heart as truly Britiſh as his Birth and Education, his preſent Majeſty aſcended the Throne.

He found the Jacobite Party almoſt annihilated, by the bad Succeſs of two Rebellions, by the State of the Pretender's Family, and by the wiſe Policy of admitting the Heads of diſaffected Clans into the Army, where they have done ſignal Service to their Country.

The leſſer political Diſtinctions amongſt his Subjects, were effectually deſtroyed by ſome of the earlieſt Steps of his Reign, which plainly ſhewed, he meant to be indeed the Father of his People, and to avail himſelf, nullo Diſcrimine, of the Service and Aſſiſtance of every Man of Merit in his Kingdom.

To theſe peculiar Circumſtances of national Unanimity it is owing, that by concentring the Endeavours of his People, againſt the common Enemy, his Majeſty has been able to carry on with ſo much Glory and Advantage, in all Parts of the Globe, the great and expenſive War, in which, at his Acceſſion, he found his Kingdom envolved: And it is owing to the Firmneſs of his own Mind, that notwithſtanding the diſtinguiſhed Ability of a great and ſucceſsful Miniſter, who withdrew himſelf from his Service at a moſt critical Moment, he delayed till neceſſary, and, when neceſſary, entered into a new War with Spain, and has carried it on, as well as the old one with France, with ſuch Succeſs, and ſo effectually aſſiſted the Portugueſe Nation, who were attacked, meerly becauſe they would not declare againſt us, that in ſpite of the Incendiaries of the Age, and to their utter Confuſion, we are upon the Point of ſeeing a Peace concluded with both our Enemies, upon Terms much more advantageous, than thoſe which the late Adminiſtration would have accepted laſt Year with France alone.

As to the Abilities the preſent Miniſtry have ſhewn in carrying on the War, if we may judge by their Succeſs in all Quarters, nothing has been wanting; for to their Neglect, no one, who conſiders Date, can poſſibly impute the Loſs of Newfoundland.

The German War, which has been vaunted as inſtrumental to our moſt important Succeſſes, even in diſtant Parts of the World, has this Year been vigorouſly ſupported; and Prince Ferdinand, that once ſo faſhionable and celebrated, that never more meritorious General than in the preſent Campaign, has nearly attained the Object entruſted to his Charge, by driving the French, though greatly ſuperior in Number, out of Hanover, and almoſt all Heſſe.

As to the War with Spain, Experience has now proved that thoſe who deferred the Declaration of it, till it appeared to them that the Honour and the true Intereſt of the Nation rendered it unavoidable, did not defer the Precautions neceſſary to bring it to a happy Iſſue.

Had the Enterprize againſt the Havannah failed, neither the wiſe Choice of the Commanders by Sea and Land, and of the Officers and Troops under their Orders; the infinite Precautions uſed in every Part of the Armament and Diſpoſition; the unexpected Difficulties and Reſiſtance met with; nor the unforeſeen Diſappointments which happened; would have reſcued the Adminiſtration, and thoſe employed in that important, though hazardous and doubtful Service, from every Reproach and Inſinuation which the Enemies of Peace could have obtruded upon a diſappointed People.

I congratulate my Countrymen upon the happy Difference; I congratulate them not only on their having obtained an Advantage ſo glorious to the Britiſh Arms, and on their having deſtroyed, at one Blow, both the naval Power of Spain, and her Communication with thoſe Treaſures on which her Subſiſtance depends, but on their having received ſo ſubſtantial a Proof, that the Want of Talents and Abilities to carry on the War, will not, as has been thrown out, reduce this Adminiſtration to the Neceſſity of accepting a Peace upon improper Terms.

Talents or Abilities to carry on a War, are not the only Requiſites in Adminiſtration: The Object of a General may be Conqueſt; that of a Miniſter ought to be Peace: And that Adminiſtration, who in this commercial State carry on a War with the greateſt and moſt uninterrupted Succeſs, will find, that if they have not the good Fortune to cloſe it with a laſting Peace, that the Pyramid they have raiſed, however ſplendid and ſublime it may be, will remain unfiniſhed and imperfect, till it receive its Apex from another Hand.

As to the popular Cry of Foreign Favourite, I ſhall not take any Trouble to convince thoſe who doubt it, That a Britiſh Subject is not a Foreigner. I ſhall only wiſh that nothing more eſſential may ever be objected, to one who enjoys the Favour of his Sovereign; as it will be the ſtrongeſt Proof that neither his private Character, nor public Conduct, have given any real Handle to Detraction.

As to the Circumſtance of the Royal Favour, as it proceeded upon long and particular Experience, we ought to look upon it as an undoubted Teſtimony of his Merit: And if it is ſuppoſed that his Advice has had any Effect upon the Conduct his Maſter has hitherto held, thoſe who conſider what that Conduct has been before, as well as ſince his Acceſſion, will find great Reaſon, without any perſonal Knowledge of the Adviſer, to entertain the moſt favourable Idea of him.

As to the invidious Compariſon of the preſent intended Peace to that of Utrecht; let thoſe who have attentively conſidered the Hiſtory of Queen Anne's Reign, and who are acquainted with the State of the Nation, and of Parties, and the Characters and Inclinations of the Sovereigns then and now, determine whether there can be any Reſemblance betwixt the Dangers to be apprehended at this Juncture, and thoſe to which the Nation was then expoſed; let them determine and inform others, whether there is a Power on Earth, which in theſe Days of national Concord, could ſcreen an Adminiſtration from the Conſequences of having given up the Honour or true Intereſts of their Country.

If theſe Things, paſt and preſent, are ſo, what I advanced muſt be granted, that this Nation never enjoyed the Advantages we are now poſſeſſed of; and when it is conſidered that there are now no Parties capable either to drive or entice a Miniſter from the Path of his Duty, or able to ſupport him, if he leaves it, it will follow, as was further aſſerted, that the moſt ambitious Stateſman can at preſent have no higher or ſafer Object than that of carrying on the War with Vigour, till he conclude it by an unexceptionable Treaty. Nor can he look for any Stability to his Reputation, to his Favour, or to his Power, excluſive of the publick Approbation of his Conduct, when ſuch Tranſactions are fully laid before them.

Let the Publick compare this Picture with the daily Caricatures of the intended Peace, and of the Times; let them judge for themſelves of the Probability of the Reſemblance. Let thoſe, who have made ſuch generous and ſucceſsful Efforts againſt declared enemies, beware of falſe Friends; let them diſtinguiſh betwixt the Voice of Faction, and that of Zeal; let them conſider, that a perpetual War is an impracticable Idea; and that the Moment to obtain an honourable and advantageous Peace, is that when the Spring-tide of our Succeſſes is ſtrong enough to carry us ſafely over the Shoals of Negotiation.

PHILADELPHIA, January 20.

Captain Chambers, arrived at New-York from Cadiz, on the Fourth of December was brought to by the Renown Man of War, that had then been out fourteen Days from England; the Captain of which informed him, that on his Arrival in America, he would hear of a PEACE.----The Man of War did not ſend her Boat on board Captain Chambers, but proceeded for the Weſt-Indies.----Chambers was alſo brought to by a French Frigate of 20 Guns, and 200 Men, but did not learn where ſhe was bound.

Captain Gardner, bound in here, kept Company with Captain Chambers the greateſt Part of the Paſſage.

PHILADELPHIA CONTRIBUTIONSHIP

For inſuring Houſes from Loſs by FIRE.

NOTICE is hereby given to all the Members of this Aſſociation, That by the eighth Article of the Deed of Settlement it is provided and agreed that all Depoſite Monies, not demanded within one Year next after the Expiration of the reſpective Policy, ſhall, for the better and more certain adjuſting the Accounts of the Society, become forfeit, and ſunk into the common Stock.

That, notwithſtanding this Proviſo, and the repeated Advertiſements from this Office, requiring the Members of this Society, as their Policies expire, to renew their reſpective Inſurances, or apply for their Depoſite-money, with its Profits, agreeable to the Terms of the aforeſaid Deed of Settlement, a Number of Policies are now expired a longer Time than is limited for Renewal thereof, or Return of the Depoſite-money, without Application made for either, ſo that without the Interpoſition of a General Meeting, the Share of all ſuch Members are, by the abovementioned Article, become forfeit, and ſunk into the common Stock.

That it is the Duty of the Directors, in the Courſe of their tranſacting the Affairs of the Company, to proceed with ſtrict Conformity to the Articles of the aforeſaid Deed of Settlement, without aſſuming to themſelves any diſpenſing Power. But they are unwilling to take Advantage of the paſt Negligence of their Fellow-members, without the expreſs Orders of a General Meeting, who have Power to relax the Severity of this Article.

Wherefore the Directors have ordered Publick Notice of theſe Circumſtances to be given, that all concerned in this Aſſociation may meet at the Court-Houſe, on Monday, the 31ſt Inſtant, at Two o'Clock in the Afternoon, and give ſuch Orders in the Premiſes as they, at ſuch General Meeting, ſhall think fit.

By Order of the Directors,

ROBERT OWEN, Clerk.

TWO Prisoners escaped from Jonathan Hampton, High Sheriff of said Essex County, as they were going to Baskin-Ridge, where they lived, to get Bail for the Actions they were then taken upon, not known to the Sheriff to be for Felony and Forgery, as they since appear to be, which the Prisoners then knew, viz. WILLIAM HAMILTON, for Sheep-stealing, at the Camp on Staten-Island, born in Ireland, about 50 Years old, a lusty, dirty slouching Butcher, much Sun-burnt, wears a cut Wig, seldom combed; has an impudent Boy his Son, about 14 Years old, with him; he had several other Actions against him, for which Sylvester Cole became special Bail, and unless he is soon taken, must pay the Debts and Costs. His Wife and Children are since gone to him.

JOHN BARCLAY, for Forgery, born in Ireland, about 50 Years of Age, a short chunkey Fellow, of sandy Complexion, full of Palaver when drunk (which is as often as he can) talks thick and quick, is a Clothier by Trade. They both went to the Southward last Spring, were at Pequea last July, and would have been taken there if one Andrew M'Gown had not helped them to escape, and secreted them, well knowing they had left me, as above; M'Gown lately went from Baskin-Ridge also.

Barclay's Wife, and some of her Children went in the Stage to Philadelphia and Lancaster about two Months ago; she is exceeding much Pock-marked, very brown, named Catherine, about 40 Years of Age, but looks much older, a very neat little Woman. It is thought they are somewhere between Pequea and Wills's Creek, but most likely about Susquehannah; but if they are further Southward, even to Carolina, it is hoped they will be apprehended, as such Villains ought not to be countenanced. Whoever apprehends and secures them, so that I may have them again, or brings them to me, or my Goal-keeper, shall have for Hamilton Fifty Dollars, and for Barclay Thirty Dollars, and all reasonable Charges, paid by

JONATHAN HAMPTON, Sheriff.

N. B. A Letter sent by Post, will immediately come to me. ¶

WHereas frequent Advertisements have been published in this Paper, requesting all Persons who are indebted to the Estate of Robert Usher, deceased, to make immediate Payment to the Executors Thomas Charlton, William West, and John Shee; and as little, if any, Regard has been paid to said Request, this is, for the last Time, to assure those who have not already settled their Accounts, that if they do not immediately come and pay off the Ballances, as well to the Estate, as to the late Partnership of Shee and Usher, they may expect (without further Notice) to be proceeded against according to Law.

JOHN SHEE has removed to the Store formerly kept by Messrs. Taylor and Cox, in Front-street, and as the Books are in his Hands, those who have any Accounts to settle, are desired to call on him.

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

By the PITT PACKET, Captain GODDARD, arrived at New-York, from Falmouth, in a ſhort Paſſage, we have the following moſt important Intelligence, viz.

His MAJESTY's Moſt Gracious SPEECH to both HOUSES of Parliament, on Thurſday, the 25th Day of November, 1762.

My LORDS, and GENTLEMEN,

I FOUND, on My Acceſſion to the Throne, theſe My Kingdoms engaged in a bloody and expenſive War. I reſolved to proſecute it with the utmoſt Vigour; determined, however, to conſent to Peace, upon juſt and honourable Terms, whenever the Events of War ſhould incline the Enemy to the ſame pacific Diſpoſition.

A Negotiation was accordingly begun laſt Year, which proved ineffectual. The War became afterwards more general, by the Reſolution of the Court of Madrid to take Part with My Enemy, notwithſtanding My beſt Endeavours to prevent it.

This, with the unexpected Attack of My natural and good Ally the King of Portugal, greatly affected Our Commerce, multiplied the Objects of Our Military Operations, and increaſed Our Difficulties, by adding to the heavy Burthens under which this Country already laboured.

My Object ſtill continued the ſame, to attain an honourable Peace, by purſuing this more extenſive War in the moſt vigorous Manner. I embraced therefore an Occaſion offered Me, of renewing the Negotiation; but at the ſame Time I exerted ſo effectually the Strength which you had put into My Hands, and have been ſo well ſerved by My Fleets and Armies, in the Execution of my Plans, that Hiſtory cannot furniſh Examples of greater Glory, or greater Advantages acquired by the Arms of this, or any other Nation, in ſo ſhort a Period of Time. My General, Prince Ferdinand of Brunſwick, and My Army in Germany, have gained immortal Honour, by many ſignal Advantages obtained, during the Courſe of this Campaign, over an Enemy ſuperior in Numbers. The Progreſs of the French and Spaniſh Arms in Portugal has been ſtopt; and that Kingdom preſerved by the Firmneſs and Reſolution of its Sovereign, and by the Military Talents of the reigning Count La Lippe, ſeconded by the Valour of the Troops under his Command. Martinico, and other Iſlands in the Weſt-Indies, have been conquered; the Havannah, a Place of the utmoſt Importance to Spain, is in My Poſſeſſion; and with it great Treaſures, and a very conſiderable Part of the Navy of Spain, are fallen into Our Hands.

I cannot mention theſe Atchievements, which reflect ſuch Honour on my Crown, without giving My public Teſtimony to the unwearied Perſeverance, and unparallelled Bravery of My Officers and Private Men, by Sea and Land, who, by repeated Proofs, have ſhewn, that no Climate, no Hardſhips, no Dangers, can check the Ardor, or reſiſt the Valour of the Britiſh Arms.

Next to the Aſſiſtance of Almighty God, it is owing to their Conduct and Courage, that My Enemies have been brought to accept of Peace, on ſuch Terms as, I truſt, will give My Parliament entire Satisfaction. Preliminary Articles have been ſigned by My Miniſter, with thoſe of France and Spain, which I will order in due Time to be laid before you.

The Conditions of theſe are ſuch, that there is not only an immenſe Territory added to the Empire of Great-Britain, but a ſolid Foundation laid for the Increaſe of Trade and Commerce; and the utmoſt Care has been taken to remove all Occaſions of future Diſputes between My Subjects, and thoſe of France and Spain, and thereby to add Security and Permanency to the Bleſſings of Peace.

While I carefully attended to the eſſential Intereſts of My own Kingdoms, I have had the utmoſt Regard to the good Faith of My Crown, and the Intereſts of My Allies. I have made Peace for the King of Portugal, ſecuring to Him all His Dominions; and all the Territories of the King of Pruſſia, as well as of My other Allies in Germany, or elſewhere, occupied by the Armies of France, are to be immediately evacuated.

GENTLEMEN of the HOUSE of COMMONS,

I have ordered the proper Eſtimates to be laid before you; and ſhall, without Delay, proceed to make Reductions to the utmoſt Extent, wherever they may be found conſiſtent with Wiſdom and ſound Policy. It is the greateſt Affliction for Me to find, that, though the War is at an End, Our Expences cannot immediately be ſo much leſſened as I deſire; but as nothing could have carried Us through the great and arduous Difficulties ſurrounding Us, but the moſt vigorous and expenſive Efforts, We muſt expect, for ſome Time, to feel the Conſequences of them to a conſiderable Degree.

My LORDS, and GENTLEMEN,

It was impoſſible to execute what this Nation has ſo glorioufly performed, in all Parts of the World, without the Loſs of great Numbers of Men. When you conſider this Loſs, whether on the Principles of Policy or Humanity, you will ſee One of the many Reaſons which induced Me to enter early into Negotiation, ſo as to make a conſiderable Progreſs in it, before the Fate of many Operations was determined; and now to haſten the Concluſion of it, to prevent the Neceſſity of making Preparations for another Campaign. As by this Peace My Territories are greatly augmented, and new Sources opened for Trade and Manufactures, it is My earneſt Deſire, that you would conſider of ſuch Methods, in the Settlements of Our new Acquiſitions, as ſhall moſt effectually tend to the Security of thoſe Countries, and to the Improvement of the Commerce and Navigation of Great-Britain. I cannot mention Our Acquiſitions, without earneſtly recommending to your Care and Attention My gallant Subjects, by whoſe Valour they were made.

We could never have carried on this extenſive War, without the greateſt Union at Home. You will find the ſame Union peculiarly neceſſary, in order to make the beſt Uſe of the great Advantages acquired by the Peace; and to lay the Foundation of that Oeconomy which We owe to Ourſelves, and to Our Poſterity, and which can alone relieve this Nation from the heavy Burthens brought upon it by the Neceſſities of this long and expenſive War.

The humble ADDRESS of the Right Honourable the LORDS Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament aſſembled.

Die Jovis, 25 Novembris, 1762.

Moſt GRACIOUS SOVEREIGN,

WE, Your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament aſſembled, beg Leave to return Your Majeſty our humble Thanks for Your moſt Gracious Speech from the Throne.

Permit us, Sir, to take this earlieſt Opportunity, to entreat Your Majeſty to accept our moſt moſt ſincere and fervent Congratulations on the Birth of an Heir to Your Crown, which adds to Your Majeſty's Domeſtick Happineſs, and endears Your Royal Conſort to the People of theſe Realms; and promiſes, that, under a Prince formed to the Arts of Government by Your Majeſty's Royal Example, the Civil and Religious Liberties, the Glory, the Commerce, and the Power of Great Britain, will be tranſmitted to Poſterity.

It is with the utmoſt Gratitude that we acknowledge Your Majeſty's unwearied Attention to the Proſperity and Happineſs of Your People; which made Your Majeſty conſtantly ſollicitous, even amidſt the Glory of Your Victories, to deliver them from the Burthens of War, by a juſt and honourable Peace. At the ſame Time, we cannot but admire the Wiſdom, which pointed out to Your Majeſty the moſt vigorous Efforts, as the ſureſt Means of procuring this Bleſſing for Your People.

We beg Leave to offer to Your Majeſty our humble Congratulations on the ſignal Succeſſes, which have attended Your Majeſty's Arms in the Courſe of the preſent Year; on the Reduction of the ſtrong Iſland of Martinico; on the Conqueſt of the Havannah, the Bulwark of the Spaniſh Colonies, and on the Acquiſition of ſo much Treaſure, and of ſo great a Part of the Spaniſh Marine; on the many Advantages obtained in Germany over the Arms of France, although ſuperior in Numbers, by the able Conduct of Your Majeſty's General Prince Ferdinand of Brunſwick, and by the Valour of the Troops under his Command; and on the Preſervation of Portugal from the Dangers which threatened inſtantly to overwhelm that Kingdom, and which could not have been ſo long withſtood, but by the Firmneſs of its Sovereign, by the military Talents of the Reigning Count La Lippe, and by the Valour of the Troops employed in that Service. Theſe Atchievements muſt be acknowledged to be equal to whatever has been performed in any former Year, even of this proſperous War; though a new Enemy neceſſarily made our military Operations more extenſive, and added new Difficulties to thoſe we ſtruggled with before: Atchievements which reflect the higheſt Honour on the Councils that planned them, on the Commanders who carried them into Execution, and on the Fleets and Armies, whoſe Intrepidity no Dangers could diſmay.

Allow us to expreſs, in the moſt fervent and grateful Manner, our Joy and Congratulations, that, by theſe repeated Efforts, Your Majeſty has at length compelled Your Enemies to conſent to Terms of Peace; as well as to offer to Your Majeſty our ſincere Thanks, for Your having informed Your Parliament that Preliminary Articles are already ſigned by Your Majeſty's Miniſter, and by thoſe of France and Spain; for Your Majeſty's moſt Gracious Aſſurances, that You will cauſe theſe Articles in due Time to be laid before them; and for the Lights Your Majeſty has been pleaſed to give concerning the Conditions of them, which afford to Your People the faireſt Proſpect of future Happineſs, Proſperity, and Security.

Your Majeſty may be aſſured, that we will not fail, on our Part, to take, as ſoon as poſſible, into our Conſideration the proper Methods for the Settlement of our new Acquiſitions, for improving their Commerce, and thereby rendering them uſeful to the Mother Country. Truly ſenſible of the Merits of thoſe gallant Men, by whoſe Valour theſe Acquiſitions have been made, we ſhall be ready to concur in every reaſonable Propoſition for rewarding them; lamenting at the ſame Time, as we do, the Loſs of ſo many of our Fellow Subjects, by which the national Strength is greatly impaired. We cannot ſufficiently admire that Wiſdom, which ſeized the fortunate Hour of reaping the Advantages of our Victories, while we were yet on the Summit of our Glory, and before we had experienced any Reverſe of Fortune. In grateful Return for thoſe many Bleſſings, which Your Majeſty's Royal Wiſdom and Fortitude have procured for us, Your Majeſty may depend on our warmeſt Zeal, on our conſtant Endeavours to promote that Unanimity Your Majeſty recommends in all our Proceedings, and on our Attention to thoſe Meaſures of Oeconomy, which are the peculiar Buſineſs of Times of Peace, and which alone can relieve Your Majeſty's faithful People, from the oppreſſive Burthens of ſo long and ſo expenſive a War.

His MAJESTY's Moſt Gracious ANSWER.

My LORDS,

THIS very affectionate and loyal Addreſs gives me the trueſt Satisfaction. I thank you heartily for it; as well as for your Congratulations on the Birth of the Prince, My Son; and for the Regard you expreſs, on this Occaſion, for the Queen.

The chearful and ſteady Support of My Parliament, throughout the War, has been attended with uninterrupted Succeſs: And the Ratification of the Preliminary Articles will, I truſt, ſoon be followed by the Completion of the Peace, on ſafe and honourable Conditions.

My only Wiſh is, and ever will be, to promote the laſting Happineſs, Proſperity, and Security, of My faithful People.

The Humble ADDRESS of the Houſe of COMMONS to the KING.

Moſt GRACIOUS SOVEREIGN,

WE Your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Great-Britain in Parliament aſſembled, beg Leave to return Your Majeſty the moſt humble and hearty Thanks of this Houſe, for Your Moſt Gracious Speech from the Throne.

Permit us, at the ſame Time, to congratulate Your Majeſty on the auſpicious Birth of His Royal Highneſs the Prince of Wales, and the Recovery of Your Royal Conſort, endeared to this Country, not only by this important Event, but by Her own perſonal Virtues.

We acknowledge, with the utmoſt Gratitude, Your Majeſty's great Attention to the Welfare of Your People, in the vigorous Proſecution of the War; and congratulate Your Majeſty on that happy Effect of it, the Proſpect of ſuch a Peace, as may give Stability and Permanency to the Bleſſings we promiſe ourſelves under Your Majeſty's moſt auſpicious Reign.

We aſſure Your Majeſty, that Your faithful Commons are truly ſenſible of the Wiſdom with which Your Plans have been concerted, as well as of the ſucceſsful Zeal with which they have been carried into Execution by Your Fleets and Armies.

The Reſolution and Intrepidity of Your Majeſty's Army in Germany, and the Military Skill, and diſtinguiſhed Activity of Your General Prince Ferdinand of Brunſwick, which have obtained ſo many ſignal Advantages, over an Enemy ſo ſuperior in Numbers, are Objects of our higheſt Admiration. The ſtopping the Progreſs of the French and Spaniſh Arms in Portugal, and the Preſervation of that Kingdom, by the Firmneſs and Reſolution of its Sovereign, and by the ſuperior Talents, and able Conduct of the reiging Count de la Lippe, ſeconded by the Valour of the Troops under his Command, are Events of the higheſt Importance to this Nation and its Commerce. The Reduction of Martinico, ſo glorious to Your Majeſty's Arms, and the ſtill more glorious and important Conqueſt of the Havannah, by which great Treaſure, and a very conſiderable Part of the Navy of Spain, are fallen into Your Majeſty's Hands, ſpeak the Wiſdom of Your Councils, and the Valour of thoſe employed in the Execution of theſe great Commands, and fill our Hearts with Gratitude and Satisfaction.

The public Teſtimony which Your Majeſty has, therefore, graciouſly given to the unwearied Perſeverance and unparallelled Bravery of Your Officers and private Men, by Sea and Land, to which, under God, theſe Glorious Atchievements are to be attributed, is a no leſs honourable, than deſerved Reward of their Services, and muſt be an additional Recommendation of them, to the Eſteem and Gratitude of their Country.

Allow us, Sir, to thank Your Majeſty for having promiſed to direct the Preliminary Articles of the Peace to be laid before us. And we receive with the greateſt Satisfaction the Information, which Your Majeſty has condeſcended, in the mean Time, to afford us; from which we promiſe ourſelves, that, with Your Majeſty's Dominions, our Trade will be increaſed; and that, all Occaſions of future Diſputes being removed, the Bleſſings of Peace will be thereby rendered permanent and ſecure.

We return Your Majeſty our moſt ſincere and humble Thanks for Your great Goodneſs and tender Regard for the Welfare of Your Subjects, in proceeding without Delay to the Concluſion of the Negociation of Peace, ſo expedient for this Country; and for Your gracious Intentions, as ſoon as it ſhall be concluded, to reduce the public Expences.

Your Majeſty may be aſſured, that Your Faithful Commons will chearfully aſſiſt in the Support of ſuch Expences as may be ſtill neceſſary, with due Regard to that Oeconomy, which Your Majeſty recommends to us, as far as may be conſiſtent with Wiſdom and true Policy.

We will not fail to conſider of the moſt effectual Methods of ſettling our new Acquiſitions, of ſecuring thoſe Countries to us, and of improving our Commerce and Navigation. And, lamenting the Loſs of thoſe many brave Men, who have fallen in this glorious War, we will pay all due Attention to the Services of thoſe who yet remain, by whoſe Valour thoſe Acquiſitions have been made. And we will continue to cultivate that Union, to which we greatly owe the Succeſſes of the War, in order thereby to make the beſt Advantages of Peace, and lay the Foundation of that Oeconomy, which we owe to ourſelves, and to our Poſterity.

LONDON, NOVEMBER 9.

Yeſterday Morning the following Letter was received by the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor.

My LORD, Cleveland Row, Monday, Nov. 8, 1762.

"I am directed by my Lord Egremont to acquaint your Lordſhip, that one of His Majeſty's Meſſengers has this Moment brought an Account of the Duke of Bedford's having ſigned the Preliminary Articles of Peace with France and Spain, at Fontainbleau, on the Third Inſtant. The Secretary of State's Intention for making this immediate Communication to your Lordſhip, of the firſt Account relative to the Signature of the Preliminaries, which has been tranſmitted to his Office by the King's Miniſter at Paris, is, in order to have it publickly known in the City, without Loſs of Time. Your Lordſhip will, no doubt, take ſuch Steps as are moſt proper to anſwer the Purpoſe. I am,

'With the greateſt Reſpect, My Lord,

'Your Lordſhip's moſt obedient humble Servant,

'ROB. WOOD.'

The principal Articles of the Preliminary Treaty, ſigned on the Third Inſtant at Fontainbleau, between England, France and Spain, are ſaid to be as follow.

In EUROPE.

1. Portugal to be immediately evacuated by Spaniſh and French Troops.

2. Nieuport and Oſtend to be evacuated, and Dunkirk demoliſhed.

3. France and England to withdraw their Armies out of Germany, and Regulations agreed upon for ſuccouring their reſpective Allies, in caſe the Houſes of Auſtria and Brandenburgh go on with their War.

4. Minorca to be reſtored to England.

5. Belleiſle to be reſtored to France.

In AFRICA.

6. Senegal remains with England.

7. Goree reſtored to France.

In ASIA.

8. The French may, if they pleaſe, rebuild Pondicherry, and have Settlements on the Coromandel Coaſt; but to be excluded from having any Eſtabliſhments in the Kingdom of Bengal, except three Comptoirs, or Factories, with no more than 16 Men to Garriſon each.

In the WEST-INDIES.

9. Martinico, Guadaloupe, and Marigalante, to be reſtored to France.

10. Grenada, and the Grenadillas, to remain with England.

11. St. Lucia to belong to France.

12. The other three Neutral Iſlands, Tobago, Dominica, and St. Vincents, to belong to England.

13. Spain to have back the Havannah, and to cede to England St. Auguſtine, and the whole Country called Florida; the Right of the Engliſh to cut Logwood allowed; and the Spaniſh Claim to a Newfoundland Fiſhery given up.

In NORTH-AMERICA.

14. The French are excluded from fiſhing in the Gulph of St. Lawrence, on the Banks of Cape-Breton, St. John's and Gaſpee; but may erect Stages between Cape Ric navista, to cure the Fish they shall catch on the Shores between be above Capes. They are to be allowed to have Harbours at Miquelon and St. Peters; in which Islands they may have a Fort, with only Fifty Men as Garrison, and subject to the Inspection of an English Commissary. None but French Ships to be allowed to touch at Miquelon and St. Peters.

15. The whole of Canada to be ceded to England; and the most valuable Part of what the French used to call Louisiana; the River Mississippi being declared the Boundary between the Colonies of the two Nations on the Continent of North-America; the English to have the Navigation of the Mississippi down to the Sea."

Breslau, Oct. 10. We hear from Saxony, that on the 27th and 28th of September the advanced posts of his Royal Highness Prince Henry were vigorously attacked, and obliged to retire; that on the 29th Gen. Haddick attacked the Prince's left wing, and the Landsberg, situated in the front of Lieutenant General Hulsen's right. The fire of the artillery and small arms lasted upwards of six hours, and the Austrians were at last repulsed, with a considerable loss of killed and wounded, besides three hundred prisoners. His Royal Highness, seeing the danger he was exposed to, from the vast superiority of the Austrians, decamped from Pretschendorff on the 30th, at three in the morning, and retired to Freyberg, without the enemy's perceiving his retreat. General Hulsen likewise quitted his position, and occupied the camp of Katzenhausen.

Hague, Oct. 29. Gen. Diesbach, the commandant of Cassel, made a sally on the 22d instant, at the head of the whole garrison, and obliged the ordinary guard to abandon the trenches; but Prince Frederick of Brunswick, at the head of four battalions, coming quickly to their support, drove the enemy back into Cassel, with great loss, before they had time to do any damage to the works.

Saxony, Oct. 22. Prince Henry, after securing his camp behind Nossen, called in all his detachments and piquets, and suddenly wheeled round with his army; upon which the advanced posts of the army under General Haddick, we are told, fell back, and the Prussians retook Freyberg. This is said to have happened on the 20th; but we have not as yet received the particulars.

Paris, Oct. 29. Letters from Madrid of the 12th advise, that the Catholic King heard, with much concern, that instead of 15000 Men, which he had ordered for the defence of the Havannah, their number, either through treachery or negligence, did not exceed 5000. The abominable conduct of some Spanish officers in the West-Indies, gives room to fear, that in the breasts of some Spaniards also, the love of their country is extinguished by self-interest.

Hamburgh, Nov. 2. An express, just arrived to the Prussian Minister, Van Hect, residing here, brings advice, that on the 31st of last month the Baron Van Bork, Adjutant to his Royal Highness Prince Henry, preceded by a great number of French horns, was arrived at Berlin, with the important news, that on the 29th past, early in the morning, he attacked the combined Austrian and Imperial Army, commanded by the Prince of Stolberg; that he entirely routed them, took 5 or 6000 prisoners, together with 30 pieces of cannon, and many colours and standards. By the same advice we are informed, that the battle lasted till two o'clock, when the victory was complete; and that Lieut. General Van Wroth was taken prisoner.

Petersbourg, Oct. 12. We received yesterday the agreeable news of her Imperial Majesty's coronation on the third instant, at Moscow, and that the ceremony was conducted with the greatest order and magnificence.

Naumburg, Oct. 22. The King of Prussia is making new levies throughout his dominions, with the utmost diligence. All who are able to bear arms, from the age of 16 to that of 40, are enlisted.

Hague, Nov. 5. A courier is just arrived here, from Saxony, with the news of a complete victory obtained the 29th past, near Freyberg, by Prince Henry of Prussia, over the united armies of Austrians and Imperialists, under the command of the Prince de Stolberg, in the absence of General Haddick, who was gone to Dresden. His Royal Highness attacked the enemy at day-break, and the action lasted till two in the afternoon, when the enemy was entirely routed, and obliged to quit the field of battle, and the town of Freyberg, to the Prussians; who took besides from 5 to 6000 prisoners, 30 cannons, and several colours and standards. What made the circumstances of this battle, according to the above account, so much the more glorious, were, that Prince Henry had with him a part only of his troops; the corps under General Hulsen having only made some movements to facilitate the operations of his Royal Highness; and the reinforcement under the Count de Neuwied having gotten no farther the day of the battle than the neighbourhood of Grossenhayn.

Paris, Nov. 5. Count Stahremberg, the Austrian Ambassador, was the first foreign Minister who was made acquainted with the signing of the Preliminaries. We expect that the ratifications of them will be exchanged by the 20th at farthest. The Preliminaries would have been signed much sooner, had not Spain stood out; for the principal articles were agreed on before the Duke de Nivernois left Paris. The definitive treaty of peace remains now to be drawn up, which will be a tedious work. It is thought that the Duke of Bedford will be excused from this trouble, and that the burden of it will be thrown on the Hon. Mr. Stanley. It is to be observed, that our Court acted in this affair with the entire consent of all its allies. Our war with Great-Britain having nothing in common with that which is waged between the Empress Queen and the King of Prussia, her Imperial Majesty repeatedly declared, that she would acquiesce in our separate peace with that Crown. It remains to be seen, as the troubles of Germany still continue, how far the King can act in his quality of Guarantee of the peace of Westphalia. Mean while we suppose this is settled in the Preliminaries.

Hambourg, Nov. 9. The number of prisoners which his Royal Highness Prince Henry of Prussia made, at the battle of the 29th past, near Freyberg, over a combined army of Austrians and troops of the Empire, commanded by the Prince of Stolberg, consists in one Lieutenant-General, Baron de Rodt; one Colonel, one Major, 24 Captains, 41 Lieutenants, and 11 Ensigns, and four thousand one hundred and seventy-four private men, besides one hundred and fifty-nine under officers. The artillery taken is 27 pieces of cannon, with nine standards and colours.

Vienna, Nov. 3. On the 1st instant an express arrived, with advice, that on the 29th past Prince Henry of Prussia had forced the Prince of Stolberg to abandon Freyberg, and retire to Plauen. This disaster, by which we lose at once all the advantages we had gained, is doubtless the consequence of atrocious perfidy, which had before defeated all our measures, for dislodging the Prussians from their advantageous positions at Nossen and Katzenhausen. An officer of superior rank discovered our dispositions to the enemy. We were surprised to find them always prepared to receive us, wherever we intended an attack. At last, on the 24th past, we discovered the cause. A Hussar, who was employed to deliver a letter at the first of the enemy's advanced posts, carried it to General Haddick. The letter was addressed to General Kleist. The traitor was seized on the 25th, and carried under a guard of 15 Hussars from Dippoldiswalde to Dresden, from whence he will be brought to this place.

Paris, Nov. 8. We are told that when the King signed the ratification of the preliminaries, he said to those about him, 'That he had never wrote his name with more pleasure.'

Hague, Nov. 16. They write from the Allied army, that Prince Ferdinand of Brunswick acquainted his general officers, on the 7th instant, that the preliminaries between Great-Britain, France, Spain, and Portugal, were signed, and that the French Marshals had received orders to cease all hostilities; upon which Prince Ferdinand sent orders to the commanding officers before [illegible] their operations against that place.

Letters from Saxony, of the 6th inst. advise, that the winter was set in there, with much snow, and an exceeding hard frost; by which it was thought that the Prussians could not keep the field any longer, but would be obliged to go into winter quarters of cantonment. The Prussians lost in the late affair with the Austrians about 1400 men.

Berlin, Nov. 9. The second Prussian reinforcement sent from Silesia to Saxony, consists of the flower of the army.

Brandebourg, Nov. 10. A train of battering cannon is preparing at Magdebourg, for the siege of Dresden.

The King our Sovereign hath left the command of the army in Silesia to the Prince of Bevern, and is arrived with a small retinue at Torgau. Several letters say, that Marshal Daun is at Dresden.

French Camp at Bauerbach, Nov. 10. The two Marshals having received advice, on the 7th, of the signing of the Preliminaries, directly gave notice of it to Prince Ferdinand, and proposed to him an immediate cessation of hostilities; which was agreed to. The head-quarters of our army, during the winter, will be at Francfort.

Extract of a Letter from the Prussian Camp at Voightsdorff, November 5.

"The Austrians in Dresden reckon their loss, in all ways, in the action of the 29th past, at 10,000 men."

Paris, Nov. 12. We learn from Cherbourg, that in the night, between the 27th and 28th of October, another hurricane drove ashore nine of the King's ships, which had put into the road of that port, in their way from Caen to Brest. Four of these ships are intirely beat to pieces; the five others remained whole when the account came away, but it was feared it would be impossible to relieve them. There were not, however, above three or four seamen or soldiers drowned.

Warsaw, Oct. 18. The Empress of Russia hath just informed his Polish Majesty, that the King of Prussia hath caused it to be declared to her by his Minister, that he could not consent to the respective evacuation of Saxony. Her Imperial Majesty adds, that this first refusal would not hinder her from making fresh endeavours to procure Saxony an advantage of which it stands so much in need, and which, besides, might accelerate a general pacification.

Army of Prince Henry at Freyberg, Nov. 10.

General Kleist hath made an incursion into Bohemia, scoured a great part of the country, even to within two miles of Prague, where the alarm was general, plundering wherever he came, and destroyed several magazines, particularly one at Saaz, valued at 900,000 florins.

Altena, Nov. 16. Prince Henry, we are told, will content himself with getting every thing ready for laying siege to Dresden, at the beginning of the next campaign.

Vienna, Nov. 20. The States of the Empress's German and Hungarian dominions, will be required to furnish 40,000 recruits this winter.

Paris, Nov. 15. It is hoped, that while the definitive treaty is settling, an expedient will be found to reconcile the Courts of Vienna and Berlin; which would render the pacification general. We have reason to think that the Duke of Bedford will soon assume the character of Ambassador Extraordinary.

Dunkirk, Nov. 12. Orders are received to suffer no armed vessel to put to sea. It is said that our fortifications, towards the sea, will be put in the condition they were in before the war.

Berlin, Nov. 14. We this moment received advice, that Lieutenant General Count de Neuwied attacked, and carried, the advanced posts of the Imperialists and Austrians in Saxony the 8th of this month; on which occasion the enemy lost four pieces of heavy artillery, and upwards of 1000 men, 600 of whom are prisoners.

Hague, Nov. 16. By the best accounts from Spain it appears, that their army in Portugal had been obliged to retire, for want of subsistence, and run great risk of being destroyed by the overflowing of the Tagus. Both the officers and private men are in the most distressed situation, almost without meat, drink or cloaths. The letters add, that the Spaniards are in a worse condition than the French; and that the whole army was marching towards Estremadura.

LONDON.

Oct. 30. There are private letters in town which insinuate, that the King of Poland, finding that no dependance is to be placed on the promises of the House of Austria, hath made overtures to the King of Prussia for a separate peace.

Nov. 6. Wednesday WILLIAM FRANKLIN, Esq; with his Lady, set out for Portsmouth, to embark for his Government of New-Jersey.

Our Advices from India inform us, that the English have made themselves masters of two forts belonging to the Rajas of the country, in which enterprise we have lost a number of men.

The new preliminaries which the King of Prussia hath proposed to the Court of Vienna, consist in an offer to give up the countries of Halberstadt and Mansfeld to the King of Poland, by way of indemnification, with some pecuniary compensations; but, on the other hand, he demands that Silesia shall be solemnly guarantied to him in perpetuity, with a strip of Bohemia, lying between the Elbe and Silesia. But the Empress Queen seems determined to hazard another campaign, rather than submit to these conditions.

It is said, that on account of some circumstances attending a late resignation, the King hath ordered the name of a noble Duke to be struck off the list of Privy Councellors.

Nov. 9. We are informed, that all the fortifications of the French settlements in the East-Indies are entirely demolished; even the French Governor's palace at Pondicherry, a most superb building, the finest ever erected in that quarter of the world.

The King of Prussia hath demanded of the city of Leipsick 15,000 recruits, or an equivalent in money.

Nov. 11. It is said that a great number of orders for flour, and other goods, are already come to several merchants, immediately to be complied with, as soon as the ports are opened between England and France; which it is expected will be in a few days.

It is said that comments on the preliminaries of peace will continue to be a buffeting of the air for a fortnight longer, as no authentick copy of them will be suffered to come abroad till they be laid before the peoples representatives in Parliament. Mean while the Publick is not a little pleased to hear of the cession of Grenada, and the Grenadillo's to England, as, besides these fertile cultivated islands, that fine harbour is to be found there, which we have long wanted in the West-Indies.

Nov. 13. We hear the Lords of the Admiralty have called in all their press warrants.

We hear that the cessation of arms will be published at the head of the Allied and French Armies at the reduction of Cassel, and that a suspension of arms is likewise to take place in Portugal, which will make a great alteration in the situation of affairs in that kingdom.

It is said that expresses have been dispatched to Portsmouth and Plymouth, to postpone the sailing of the transports with the troops for Portugal.

Yesterday Morning an express arrived at St. James's, with advice, that Prince Henry of Prussia, after receiving a strong reinforcement from the King his brother, had attacked the Austrians in Saxony, and had intirely defeated them; nine thousand Austrians were killed or wounded, and 30 pieces of cannon taken.

Yesterday an officer arrived at St. James's, with advice that Cassel surrendered by capitulation the 1st instant, and that the garrison were made prisoners of war.

Advice is received by the Dutch mail, that his Catholic Majesty, upon receiving the news of the loss of the Havannah, would see no body for four days, and threatened vengeance to his Ministers for imposing upon him, by assuring him that the place was impregnable.

It is said orders are given for all his Majesty's frigates in the Downs, Portsmouth, Plymouth, &c. to sail immediately on a cruize, and to watch the motions of the French privateers, whom it is imagined will make a bold push before they are called in, to seize upon some of our merchant ships.

They write from Hamburgh, that some of the King of Prussia's Generals having spoke to him of a peace with the Empress Queen, his Majesty made answer, That that Princess having rejected the conditions he had offered her, he was determined to listen to no accommodations till he should have put things on the same footing as at the beginning of the war; that he perceived his great fatigue hurt his health, and would even shorten his days, but that he was resolved to die in the field.

Some advices from Copenhagen insinuate, that that Court is on the point of being imbroiled not only with Russia, but also with Sweden; but on what account, was not mentioned; that mean while it was certain that orders were issued for making new levies, and an edict daily expected for prohibiting afresh the exportation of corn and provisions from the Danish territories.

Nov. 16. The Lords of the Admiralty will grant no more protections, all the press-warrants being called in last Saturday.

Letters from Saxony of the 2d instant advise, that the Austrians have been in the greatest confusion, since their defeat by Prince Henry; and that the Prussians were in continual motion since that time; 20,000 of them, under Gen. Neuwied, were advancing towards Dresden, and the Austrian General Haddick, with his troops, was retreating towards Bohemia.

As the preliminaries are signed, it is to be presumed, that the ratifications of them will be exchanged as soon as the several instruments can be transmitted by the different parties to the treaty. When this may happen, is a matter of calculation, but it is likely that it will be about the end of the present month; and whenever it is, a proclamation will be published, according to the usual form, declaring when hostilities are to cease.---We are allowed, however, by authority, to apprize the Publick, That the periods for the cessation of hostilities, by sea, in the different parts of the world, are fixed as follows, viz. Twelve days (to be reckoned from the ratification of the preliminaries) in the Channel, and North Seas; six weeks, from the Channel, the British Seas, and the North Seas, to the Canary Islands inclusive, whether in the Ocean or Mediterranean; three months, from the Canary Islands to the Equinoctial Line, or Equator; six months, beyond the said Line, and in all other parts of the world.

We hear that the preliminaries were ratified by his Majesty on Wednesday last, and as an express was immediately sent with the ratification to the Duke of Bedford, it is expected that the ratifications will be exchanged, and a cessation of hostilities proclaimed, next Friday.

Nov. 18. An English officer in Germany, in a letter dated the 2d instant, says, "We have had five feux de joye, in the space of ten days, for the reduction of the Havannah, the retaking Newfoundland, the taking of Schweidnitz, the victory gained over the Austrians and Imperialists by Prince Henry of Prussia, and the surrender of Cassel. So many, in so short a space of time, a circumstance that has not happened during the present war. Our cantonments are at present so near the French, that we deal with each other for bread, brandy, cards, &c. in the same manner as if there were no hostilities between the two armies."

It is said, that the French have sent orders to all their sea ports to stop the privateers sailing, and to prevent any new commissions being given.

An order was sent down yesterday to the regulating Captains to break up their several rendezvous.

We hear that orders are sent to stop the embarking any more forces from Ireland for Portugal.

Nov. 20. It is said passes, signed by the Duke de Nivernois, are making out for our ships to pass and repass the seas unmolested by the French till the peace is settled.

Extract of a letter from our Army in Germany.

"Some time after the surrender of Cassel, the Allied Army attacked and took a party of the French near Ziegenhayn, and our cannon are now playing against that place; such a chain of successes has made a glorious campaign; we are soon to besiege Marburgh.

We hear that yesterday an Order was sent down to the proper officer in the Dock-yard at Chatham, to prepare ground tackle, &c. for ninety men of war, that are very soon expected up the River Midway, to be laid up in ordinary.

The Duke of Bedford has ordered a large service of plate to be made, and sent to Paris with all expedition. The report of his Grace's returning to England, at the opening of the Session is without foundation.

The Earl of Egmont (in 1741 Lord Percival) has kissed the King's hand on being appointed joint Postmaster-General with Mr. Hambden, in the room of the Earl of Besborough.

It is said that when the definitive treaty of peace is concluded, the Earl of Hartford will be sent as the King's Ambassador to the Court of France.

Nov. 23. Orders were last Friday sent to the dock-yards at Deptford and Chatham, &c. that the men should work only common hours, and that all persons who have a mind to have their discharges, might have them by applying for them, and be paid their full wages to the time.

All the large men of war at Portsmouth are ordered into the harbour; and the small ones, sloops, &c. are to be got ready as fast as possible for cruising.

They write from Cadiz, and other ports in Spain, that all the warlike preparations are of a sudden countermanded; that the forces which were assembling on the coast of Galicia, have orders to return into quarters; and that several regiments of militia are dismissed.

We are informed, that in the Preliminaries of peace agreed on between France, Spain, and Great-Britain, it is stipulated, that the former shall make full satisfaction for the support of the French prisoners that have been confined in this kingdom during the war.

M. de Lally, late governor of Pondicherry, was arrested the fifth inst. at Fontainbleau, with two other persons, their names unknown, that were in his company, and sent to the Bastile.

There are letters by this day's mail which advise, that a report was current at the Hague, when the post came away, that eighty thousand Turks were arrived on the frontiers of Hungary, and only waited for the Grand Signior's orders to begin their operations.

Letters by the last Dutch mail advise, that the corps of Prussians under Major-General Belling, which was supposed to be destined to take up their quarters in Mecklenbourg, is to be employed in the siege of Dresden, and that the King of Prussia was already arrived before that place in person.

A letter from Paris of the 12th says, that no less than 12 persons were beheaded in the Bastile the week before, and that three more had been taken into custody. It is certain that General Lally was arrested and sent to the Bastile on the 4th, the day after the preliminaries were signed, to answer the charge brought against him by the French East-India company. The Dutch gazettes say, he could not be arrested sooner, because he was England's prisoner. The Intendant of Canada was condemned to be hanged, for malversation; but the French King changed his sentence into perpetual imprisonment.

Last Friday extra-work ceased in the dock-yard at Portsmouth.

Nov. 25. In a short time will sail from Plymouth two or three men of war, and transports, with 16 Lieutenants, and 3000 seamen, to fetch home the Spanish men of war from the Havannah.

Letters from Lisbon bring advice, that the British and Portuguese forces had surrounded a body of 8000 Spaniards in such a Manner, that they must either surrender prisoners, or be starved.

We hear a certain Great Commoner has declared his intentions of being concerned in no party whatever; but, like a true-born Englishman, will speak his sentiments before an august Assembly, without favour or partiality to any person whatever.

Extract of a letter from Lisbon, dated Oct. 28.

"We have gained some advantages over the Spaniards, particularly at Villa Velha; and it is reported that about 7000 of the enemy were made prisoners there without fighting, being surprized and surrounded by the troops commanded by the Generals Townshend and Burgoyne, and in a few days we expect them down here, orders being given for all dwellers in the castle of this city to retire from it, and provide for themselves houses elsewhere."

Nov. 27. Thursday last His Majesty was attended to the House of Lords, in His magnificent new State Coach, by his Grace the Duke of Rutland, and the Earl of Huntingdon. The Carriage of the Coach is composed of four Tritons, who support the Body by Cables fastened to the Roots of their Fins. The two placed on the Front of the Carriage, bear the Driver on their Shoulders, and are represented in the Action of sounding Shells, to announce the Approach of the Monarch of the Sea; and those on the back Part, carry the imperial Fasces, topt with Tridents, instead of the ancient Axes. The Driver's Foot-board is a large scollop Shell, supported by Bunches of Reeds, and other marine plants. The Pole represents a Bundle of Lances, and the Wheels are imitated from those of the antient triumphal Chariots. The Body of the Coach is composed of eight Palm-trees, which, branching out at the Top, sustain the Roof. The four angular Trees are loaded with Trophies, allusive to the Victories obtained by Britain during the Course of the present glorious War. On the Center of the Roof stand three Boys, representing the Genii of England, Scotland and Ireland, supporting on their Heads the Imperial Crown, and holding in their Hands the Scepter, the Sword of State, and Ensigns of Knighthood: Their Bodies are adorned with Festoons of Laurel, which fall from thence towards the four Corners of the Roof. The Intervals between the Palm-Trees, which form the Body of the Coach, are filled in the upper Parts with Plates of Glass, and below with Pannels, adorned with Paintings. On the Front Pannel is represented BRITANNIA, seated on a Throne, holding in her Hand a Staff of Liberty, attended by Religion, Justice, Wisdom, Valour, Fortitude, and Victory, presenting her with a Garland of Laurel: On the back Pannel, Neptune, issuing from his Palace, drawn by Sea-horses, and attended by the Winds, the Rivers, Tritons, Naiads, &c. bringing the Tribute of the World to the British Shore. On one of the Doors are represented Mars, Minerva, and Mercury, supporting the Imperial Crown of Britain; and on the other, Industry and Ingenuity, giving a Cornucopia to the Genius of England. The other four Pannels represent the liberal Arts and Sciences protected; History recording the Reports of Fame; and Peace burning the Implements of War. The Inside of the Coach is lined with Crimson Velvet, richly embroidered with Gold. All the Woodwork is triple gilt, and all the Paintings highly varnished. The Harness is of Crimson Velvet, adorned with Buckles, and other Embellishments of Silver gilt; and the Saddle-cloths are of blue Velvet, embroidered and fringed with Gold.---This magnificent Work was designed by Mr. Chambers, Architect to His Majesty, and executed under his Inspection; the Carving by Mr. Wilton, Sculptor to the King; the Painting by Mr. Chipriani; the Chasing by Mr. Coit; the Coach-work by Mr. Butler; the Embroidery by Mr. Barrett; the Gilding by Mr. Pujolas; the Varnishing by Mr. Ansel; and the Harness by Mr. Ringstead.

His Majesty was saluted all the Way, from St. James's to the Parliament-house, with the joyful Acclamations of the most numerous Concourse of People, perhaps, ever assembled on such an Occasion. The Number of Coaches and Chariots was so great, that they reached from the Middle of Pall Mall to the House of Lords; and although His Majesty came out of the House again at Two o'Clock, they occasioned such frequent Stoppages, that His Majesty did not enter the Park on His Return till Three.

An order is arrived at Plymouth to discharge the tenders employed in impressing men.

The New-England fleet passed by Plymouth last Tuesday.

Last Wednesday the Duke de Nivernois, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary from the Most Christian King, had an audience of His Majesty, to deliver his credentials; to which he was introduced by the Right Hon. the Earl of Egremont, Secretary of State for the Southern department, and conducted by Sir Clement Cotterell Dormer, Master of the Ceremonies. On this occasion his Excellency made the following speech to His Majesty.

SIR,

"A cordial reconciliation between two powerful Monarchs, formed to love each other; a permanent union of system between two great courts, attracted to one another by their interests rightly understood; and a sincere and lasting conjunction of two respectable nations, whom unhappy prejudices have too long divided; form the glorious æra of the commencement of your Majesty's reign: And this æra will, at the same time, be that of happiness restored to the four quarters of the world. Your Majesty's name, your glory, and your virtues, will be inseparably joined in history, with universal felicity; and posterity will there read, with sentiments of respect, that treaty, which will be distinguished, above all others, by good faith, without equivocation, and by permanent stability.

"Permit me, Sir, to felicitate myself at your feet, on being chosen by the King, my master, to serve, between your Majesty and him, as the organ of the noble sentiments of two hearts so worthy of each other, and to be employed in this blessed work, which ensures your Majesty's glory, by giving happiness to the whole world."

Yesterday afternoon the following letter from the Right Hon. the Earl of Egremont, one of his Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, was transmitted to, and received by, the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor.

My LORD,

"I have the pleasure to inform your Lordship, that one of his Majesty's Messengers is just arrived from Paris, with the French and Spanish Ratifications of the Preliminary Articles of Peace, which were signed at Fontainbleau on the third instant. The Ratifications were exchanged by the Ministers Plenipotentiary of the three contracting Powers, on the 22d, at Versailles. I give your Lordship the early intelligence of this great event, which will be immediately followed by a general cessation of hostilities.

"I have the pleasure to be, with the greatest respect,

My Lord,
Your Lordship's
Most obedient and humble Servant,
EGREMONT."

Piccadilly, Nov. 26, 1762.

On the receipt of the above ratifications the guns were fired in the Park, and at the Tower, a few minutes after One.

Nov. 6, Captain Bethell, of his Majesty's ship the Phœnix, in his letter dated the 24th past, at sea, gives an account of his having taken, on the 20th, after a chace of six hours, the Opale, a French frigate of 24 guns, and 250 men, in her passage to Europe. The said frigate is arrived at Falmouth, in her way to Plymouth.

Nov. 8. His Majesty's ship the Niger is arrived at Plymouth, and has brought in with her Le Victoire, a French privateer, of 10 guns, and 77 men; she was taken the 25th of October. She had been out 22 days, and had not taken any thing; belonged to Bayonne, but came last from St. Sebastian.

Nov. 9. His Majesty's ship the Loo, commanded by Captain Penny, has taken and brought into Cork, the Cantabria, a Spanish privateer, of 14 guns, and 115 men, which she fell in with on the 27th of September, in lat. 44: 20, long. 14: 22 west from the meridian of London.

PHILADELPHIA, January 27.

Yesterday His Honour the GOVERNOR, attended by his COUNCIL, the Gentlemen of the ASSEMBLY, the MAYOR, RECORDER, ALDERMEN, and COMMON COUNCIL of the City, the Gentlemen of the ARMY, &c. proclaimed, at the Court-House, the following Cessation of Hostilities, with the usual Solemnity, in the Presence of a vast Concourse of People; who all shewed great Joy on the happy Occasion.

By the HONOURABLE
JAMES HAMILTON, Esq; Lieutenant-Governor and Commander in Chief of the Province of Pennsylvania, and Counties of New-Castle, Kent, and Sussex, upon Delaware,

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS His Majesty was graciously pleased, on the 26th Day of November last past, to issue His Royal Proclamation, in the Words following, viz.

GEORGE R.

WHEREAS Preliminaries, for restoring Peace, were signed at FONTAINBLEAU, on the Third Day of this Instant NOVEMBER, by the Ministers of Us, the Most Christian King, and the Catholick King. And whereas, for the putting an End to the Calamities of War, as soon and as far as may be possible, it has been agreed between Us, His Most Christian Majesty, and His Catholick Majesty, as follows; that is to say,

That as soon as the Preliminaries shall be signed and ratified, all Hostilities should cease at Sea, and at Land.

And, to prevent all Occasions of Complaints and Disputes which might arise upon Account of Ships, Merchandizes, and other Effects, which might be taken at Sea, it has been also mutually agreed, That the Ships, Merchandizes, and Effects, which should be taken in the CHANNEL, and in the NORTH SEAS, after the Space of Twelve Days, to be computed from the Ratification of the present Preliminary Articles; and that all Ships, Merchandizes, and Effects, which should be taken after Six Weeks from the said Ratification, beyond the CHANNEL, the BRITISH SEAS, and the NORTH SEAS, as far as the CANARY ISLANDS inclusively, whether in the OCEAN or MEDITERRANEAN; and for the Space of Three Months, from the said CANARY ISLANDS to the EQUINOCTIAL LINE or EQUATOR; and for the Space of Six Months, beyond the said EQUINOCTIAL LINE or EQUATOR, and in all other Places of the World without any Exception, or other more particular Distinction of Time or Place, should be restored on both Sides. AND WHEREAS the Ratifications of the said Preliminary Articles, in due Form, were exchanged at VERSAILLES, by the Plenipotentiaries of Us, of the Most Christian King, and of the Catholick King, on the Twenty-second of this Instant NOVEMBER, from which Day the several Terms abovementioned, of Twelve Days, of Six Weeks, of Three Months, and of Six Months, for the Restitution of all Ships, Merchandizes, and other Effects, taken at Sea, are to be computed.

WE have thought fit, by and with the Advice of Our Privy Council, to notify the same to all Our loving Subjects; and We do declare, That Our Royal Will and Pleasure is, and We do hereby strictly Charge and Command all Our Officers, both at Sea and Land, and all other Our Subjects whatsoever, to forbear all Acts of Hostility, either by Sea or Land, against His Most Christian Majesty, and His Catholick Majesty, Their Vassals or Subjects, from and after the respective Times abovementioned, and under the Penalty of incurring Our highest Displeasure.

GIVEN at Our Court at St. JAMES's, the Twenty-sixth Day of NOVEMBER, in the Third Year of Our Reign, and in the Year of Our LORD 1762.

AND WHEREAS a Copy of the said Proclamation hath been transmitted to me by the Right Honourable the Earl of EGREMONT, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, who hath also signified to me His Majesty's Royal Will and Pleasure, that the same should be published in all the proper Places under my Government, to the End that all His Majesty's Subjects there, may pay due Obedience thereto, and strictly observe the same; I HAVE THEREFORE, in Obedience to the said Royal Order, signified to me as aforesaid, with the Advice of the Council, caused the said Proclamation to be this Day published, and do hereby strictly charge and command all His Majesty's Subjects within this Province, to take Notice of His Royal Will and Pleasure therein made known, and to conform themselves thereto accordingly.

GIVEN under my Hand, and the Great Seal of the Province of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia, this Twenty-sixth Day of January, in the Third Year of His Majesty's Reign, and in the Year of our Lord 1763.

JAMES HAMILTON.

By His HONOUR's Command,
JOSEPH SHIPPEN, junior, Secretary.

GOD Save the KING.

GENTLEMEN,

IT is the peculiar Right of Engliſhmen to complain when injured, and your Love of Juſtice, and Friendſhip to Liberty (of which I have been moſt cruelly deprived near Six Months in this City) I doubt not will engage you to publiſh the Wrongs I have ſuſtained in your next Paper.---My Caſe is attended with ſingular Hardſhips; it ſtands thus. About Five Years I have been in the Colony of Rhode-Iſland, and to and from that Place; have ſince that Time traded as a Merchant. I received a Bill of Exchange, drawn in Providence, on a Merchant in this City, for near Fifteen Hundred Pounds, which I came here to negotiate in Auguſt laſt; when the following Gentlemen, Robert Crooke, Thomas Hazard, and Thomas Hazard and Company, Merchants in Rhode-Iſland, ſent Orders to their Correſpondents here to have me arreſted,---pretending I owed them large Sums of Money; and, being a Stranger in this City, the more effectually to injure, oppreſs, diſtreſs, and deprive me of my Liberty and Character, and prevent my obtaining Bail to their ſeveral malicious and vexatious Suits, and conſequently to confine me in Goal, their Writs were iſſued out of the Court of Common Pleas for this City and County againſt me; one by ſaid Robert Crooke, and indorſed for the Sheriff to take Bail in Fifteen Hundred Pounds; another by Thomas Hazard, indorſed Bail Nine Hundred Pounds; another by Thomas Hazard and Company, indorſed Bail Three Hundred Pounds; ſo that the Bail required of me by theſe worthy trading Gentlemen of Rhode-Iſland, amounted to no more or leſs than Two Thouſand Seven Hundred Pounds Money of Pennſylvania. This Bail I could not procure, and, for Want thereof, have ever ſince remainded in the public Goal of this City. With this my hard and cruel Treatment I was obliged to reſt content, but uſed my utmoſt Endeavours to bring thoſe Cauſes to a ſpeedy Determination. And accordingly, with my Aſſent, and the Attorneys in Fact for my worthy Adverſaries, all Matters in Variance between us were, by a Rule of the Court aforeſaid, referred to three Merchants of this City, or any two of them, who have made their Reports to the Court aforeſaid to the Effect following: In the Action of Robert Crooke againſt me they report, on full hearing our Allegations and Proofs, they find ſaid Crooke indebted to me in Twenty-ſix Pounds, Eleven Shillings, and Six-pence, lawful Money of Pennſylvania. In the Action of Thomas Hazard againſt me, they find Sixteen Pounds, Ten Shillings, and Four-pence, Money aforeſaid, due from ſaid Hazard to me. In the Action of Thomas Hazard and Company againſt me, they find me in Debt to them in Company, Twenty-one Pounds, Twelve Shillings, and Five-pence Sterling; as by the ſeveral Reports of the Auditors aforeſaid, and Judgments thereupon rendered, remaining on Record in the Court aforeſaid, may more fully appear.

Thus have I been treated by theſe worthy Merchants; while Mr. Crooke was in my Debt, he arreſted and held me to Fifteen Hundred Pounds Bail; while Thomas Hazard was in my Debt, he arreſted and held me to Nine Hundred Pounds Bail; while I owed to Hazard and Company, the trifling Sum of Twenty-one Pounds, Twelve Shillings and Five-pence Sterling, they held me to Three Hundred Pounds Bail.

As a trading Man, and to obviate the infamous Reports, I underſtand have been propagated againſt my Character in the Eaſtern Colonies, and withal to ſhew with what Degree of Malice and Oppreſſion I have been treated by theſe humane Gentlemen, I pray your Favour to make this Publication, not doubting in due Time to obtain ſuch Redreſs for my falſe and unjuſt Impriſonment, as the wholeſome Laws of my Country ſhall afford me. I am your very humble Servant,

JOHN ROFFE.

FIVE POUNDS Reward.

RUN away, on the 14th ult. a Servant Man, named EMANUEL LIGHTIN, about 19 or 20 Years of Age, 5 Feet 7 or 8 Inches high, fair Complexion, ſmooth fac'd, long Viſage, and has long light brown Hair, plaited and tyed up: Had on a blue thin Coat, a white double-breaſted Flannel Jacket, with red Spots and Buttons, good Leather Breeches, Yarn Stockings, ſtrong Shoes, and half-worn Fur Hat, &c. He has ſtolen a middle-ſized brown or Mouſe-coloured Horſe, about 12 Years old, in good Order, ſhod before, trimmed under the Bridle, a ſmall Star and Snip, has a Lump on the off Side of his Belly near the Flank, paces and trots, and had on an old hunting Saddle, with Leather Houſings, and ſnaffle Bridle: He has likewiſe ſtolen a good light-coloured Great-coat, a Snuff-coloured cloſe-bodied Ditto, two or three fine Shirts, a half-worn Fur Hat, a large Pair of Silver Buckles, with ſome other Things, and probably will change his Cloaths.
